Mr. Merchant—If You Advertise in the Right Medium (The Standard) and Then Do NOT Talk Hard Times Your Business Will Grow Rapidly

SIKESTON STANDARD

VOLUME 22 SIKESTON, SCOTT COUNTY, MISSOURI FRIDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1933 NUMBER 2

THE EDITOR SAYS—

H. W. Turner and R. L. Lovvern, representing the Central States Life Insurance Co. of St. Louis in this section, have recently disposed of some of their land holdings under terms that no tenant farmer who can kick up $100 in cash can afford to turn down. A tract of 40 acres was sold to a farmer in Dunklin county and another tract to a farmer in Mississippi county on the payment of $100 cash and the contract to turn in 4 bales of cotton each year for 10 years. At the end of 5 years a deed to the land will be given. This looks to us like a mighty god proposition for a tenant farmer to own enough land to make his living on, and a good proposition for the insurance company to unload some of their land holdings.

The Constitution says we are all born equal. Maybe so. God so willed that some of us should be handsome in form and face, while some should be ugly in face and deformed in body. Generally, those who have the handsomest face have the ugliest disposition while within the ugly body is a heart and soul that radiates beauty that makes them loved and respected by all with whom they contact.

Garbage burned in the alley back of the Emergency Hospital sends forth an odor that is nausiating to well folks and to sick folks it is worse. Don't know who is responsible for the mess, but it should be abated.

The T. A. Wilson family and furniture left for Jefferson City Wednesday afternoon where they will make their home. For nearly twenty years they have been our next door neighbors, and good ones, too. They have not bothered us and we have not bothered them. We have swapped confidences, butter, sugar and the like, and none have been betrayed and all repayed. We'll miss them at our house but they will not be forgotten and when the time comes for them to return to Sikeston we'll welcome them with the best we have.

Our attention has been called to the fact that some children way under the age of 16 are being permitted to drive cars, and drive fast, too. This should not be permitted as no kid can handle a car as well as a grown person and somebody is going to be killed or crippled. Parents should not premit this and officers should take them in charge.

The thermometer dropped to near the frost point Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday mornings. The warm condition of the ground and the moisture probably is what saved flowers, late gardens and late corn.

It is going to be a very delicate task to write the story of the Beauty Revue at the Malone Theatre Tuesday evening, therefore we shall leave it to Bob Nicholson, who is a younger nan and more fleet of foot. If we had been selecting the five beauties there would have been a few changes in the front rank. However, there was not a Bugger in the Bunch.

In connection with prohibition's early disappearance, it is interesting to learn that the price of "corn likker" has increased. Many moonshiners assuring their customers that "since NRA started negroes working, white moonshiners demand shorter hours, higher wages, and it is necessary to employ more of them."—Arthur Brisbane.

We listened to Mr. Charles H. Diel, executive secretary of the Missouri Retailers Association out of St. Louis, Wednesday forenoon in a meeting of merchants and business men at the Missouri Utilities Co. office. He was advocating organizing the retail merchants of the State to combat legislation that will be offered at the special legislative session that might be a hardship on retailers. He had special reference to the general sales tax that may be offered in some form or other to raise revenue for the State. At this time the Retail Association have offered nothing better than a sales tax and the money must come from some source. If a sales tax is put on the statute book it should be passed on to the consumer in order that every individual shall pay something toward the upkeep of State institutions. If something better is offered we are for it.

A complaint has been made to The Standard that small light bulbs were installed in the Sunset Addition in place of the large size used in other sections of the city. If this is true, it shouldn't be as these people were nearly 100 per cent for the municipal bond election and should be treated as other citizens. However, we are not running the plant.

In Grover Cleveland's last administration the names of Hoke Smith and Pod Dismukes were closely aligned with his administration. The Roosevelt administration has Prof. Reggie Tugwell to carry. Though there's nothing in a name.

We can say now at the age of 70 years, if we knew as much at the age of 20 as we do now, and things were as they are now, we would probably have been killed before we were 30.

Forecast Bureau Predicts 20 cent Cotton Coming

(International Market Forecast Bureau, New York)

The present position of the cotton market is seemingly as unshakeable as the Rock of Gibraltar. The fact that our Government has announced that it will loan the farmer 10 cents at interior points will relieve the cotton market from any hedge pressure, and any decline that might occur from this level on account of the weak stock market will be of short duration. Right now there are too many cotton bears and too pessimistic a view is being taken of the cotton supply situation. Bears fail to realize that the foundation for a real bull cotton market has already been laid and that statistics are the post-mortem verdict. Manipulation may artificially depress cotton prices for a time, but the law of supply and demand will sooner or later hold its sway; in fact, it is no longer a question of supply, but one of demand and demand is improving all the time. This statement is borne out by the fact that consumption continues on an unusually large scale and now exceeds the 1930 consumption by more than 3,000,000 bales. Exports are also increasing and are now 75,000 bales ahead of last year. Evidently the foreign spinner continues to be enthused over the idea that American cotton is still cheap. After all is said and done, cotton is really more valuable than gold. Cotton is the friend of the poor and the luxury of the rich; it is made into cloth so coarse that it sells for a few cents a yard; it is made into fabric so fine and so beautiful that it cannot be told from silk and if there were no cotton, the civilized world, including Mahatma Ghandhi, would have to go naked. Cotton will gain strength as it moves higher—it is the one commodity that has been designated to lead the world out of this depression. Old King Cotton will soon regain his throne and the farmer who fails to take advantage of the government plan to hold his cotton, will look backward one year from now with regret and remorse.

(Note to Editor: We suggest you publish the above letter. It will undoubtedly save your community hundreds of thousands of dollars. Each bale of cotton that is sold now helps depress the cotton futures market. We have the largest cotton forcast clientele in the world and our advice is only sent to subscribers who pay from $120 to $350 per year for same. However, we are sincerely trying to help the farmer increase his purchasing power by not dumping his cotton on a market which his own government is trying to advance for him.)

RISING VALUES REQUIRE INCREASED FIRE INSURANCE

After three years during which policyholders had to cut down their fire insurance to keep pace with steadily declining values, the reverse situation has arisen.

During the last ninety days, the dise have increased so materially that insured values are now lagging behind replacement costs and in the event of loss many property owners will find themselves inadequately insured.

At this critical point in the recovery program, a loss inadequately insured is a crushing blow that few are capable of withstanding. Increase in values make it dangerous to wait for existing policies to expire before increased protection.

The problem of the assured whose policies carry the co-insurance or average clause, is especially pressing. In these cases, there should be no delay in increasing the amounts of insurance to comply with the co-insurance requirements.

The indications are that there will be a heavy demand for seed of the soil building crops next year, according to County Agent Furry. It seems entirely feasible that all farmers save seed of soil building crops this fall, in anticipation of the demand next spring. The reason for this demand will lie in changes taking place in the cropping system of farmers cooperating with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. There is going to be a reduction called for in cotton acreage, corn acreage and wheat. Idle land is to be put in soil building crops to meet the regulations of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. This means that there will be an unusually large number of acres next year seeded to cow peas, soybeans and korean lespedeza. These three classes of seed in particular should have a reasonable demand.

Frisby Hancock set out early Monday morning, intending to go to the store at Thunderation, but as one side of his suspenders was drawn up tighter than the other, he turned off at the wrong road and wound up at Bounding Billows.—Commercial Appeal.

Capital War Memorial Receives First Award

THE District of Columbia war memorial in Potomac Park has been chosen by the architectural committee of the Washington Board of Trade as the most outstanding memorial erected in the national capital in the last two years. The memorial, of white Vermont Marble, is a Greek Doric temple large enough to accommodate an eighty-piece band. It was designed by F. H. Brooke, Washington architect, with Horace W. Peaslee and Nathan Wyeth, both of Washington, as consultants.

AS I SEE IT

Observations by Bob Nicholson

Justice is popularly pictured as being blindfolded. Four people state that a person is one place at a certain time, one person states that he was at another place at that time. The one person is upheld by the law. We would say that justice can not only see but she sees all. Take notice youse guys.

In a civil suit tried in the New Madrid city court years ago six men were chosen as jurors. All six were active practicing lawyers. Was that verdict complicated?

Despite the NRA certain Shylocks in our fair city still continue to get their pound. Alas! Alas! Utopia.

One of the late nightly features of one of the carnival shows was a display of nudism but the boys just looked bored. Oh yeah!

In Kansas City a promoter laid plans for an indurance ice sitting contest. The entrants were to wear bathing suits and sit on cakes of ice. The Mayor stepped in and stopped all that. There wouldn't be any contest to it if several yound ladies I know were entered. Chilly! And How!

A beautiful young lady sat on a cake of ice, as cold as cold could be, but soon she up and walked away, "My tale is told," said she.

"Hambone" Coleman went to Charleston and stoled another cullud boy's girl but not until after he had whipped the boy and then loaned him enough money to cross the bridge and leave the state.

I was disappointed at the beauty contest because I couldn't get a seat on the bald-head row. All the gals certainly looked lovely and I congratulate them all. Here is to the Sikeston girl who will win at Malden, whoever she maybe.

Oh, these beauty contests. Were some of the boys burned up, wow.

Has anyone tried pronouncing the name of that club in Vienna. Only 81 letters but what letters.

Hunt Missouri Shucking Champion for 1933

Scott county corn shuckers are invited to try-out for a place in the big Missouri state contest which will be held in Linn county, early in November, by the Linn County Farm Bureau; J. Robert Hall, county agent, and the Missouri Rurlist. Our county champion, when we find him, will be eligible to enter the state meet where he will have a chance at winning a big share of $100 in cash prizes offered by Missouri Ruralist, St. Louis. In addition the Missouri shucking champion will get a free trip to the national shucking contest in Nebraska where he will represent Missouri, and have a chance at winning other cash prizes ranging from $10 to $100, and the honor of being national champion. The second high Missouri man also gets to enter the national.

For a start, every corn shucker who wishes to try out for a place in the big state contest should send his name immediaiely to the Corn Shucking Conest Editor, Missouri Ruralist, 2206 Pine St., St. Louis, Mo. When he does this he will be properly enrolled in his county contest, his name will be sent to his county contest leader and he will be informed where and when his contest will be held. If he wins, he goes into the state meet. If he doesn't, there is nothing to lose.

Because county contests must be held late in October it is important to get your name in right away. Let's get a champion in Scott county who will walk away with the state championshp, and then trim the huskers from Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Nebraska, Minnesota, South Dakota, Kansas and Ohio in the national contest.

Local Girls Chosen to Compete at Malden

Thirty-one beautiful young ladies, representing as many local firms, appeared on the stage of the Malone Theatre, Tuesday night in a beauty revue. Five of the girls were chosen to represent Sikeston at the Malden Fall Festival where other girls from this section will compete Thursday night for the tittle, "Miss Southeast Missouri." The winner at Malden will be awarded a trip to the World's Fair in Chicago.

The five girls selected by the audience with written votes were, Ann Beck, H. and H. Grocery; Jennilee Sells, F. W. Woolworth Co.; Jane Mitchell, A. and P. Tea Co.; Helen Virginia Keith, Midwest Ice Cream Co., and Evelyn Ward, International Shoe Co.

Patrons were treated to a dazzling array of beautiful girls and beautiful gowns. Three points were asked to be considered in choosing the lucky ladies, beauty of face and figure, poise, and personality.

Following is list of other young ladies who competed and the firms they represented. Margaret Evans, Cook's Califo Market; Imogene Albritton, Graber's Department Store; Patsy Ruth Gentles, Missouri Utilities Co.; Catherine Ann Cook, Buckner-Ragsdale Company; Virginia Mount, Malone's Drug Store; Marie Patterson, Kroger Stores; Mary Hunter, Peacock Beauty Salon; Francis Aufenberg, Peoples Store; Margaret Fisher, Pitman Tailor Shop; Dorothy Lee Waller, Scott County Motor Co.; Evelyn Allard, Anne's Beautye Shop; Audrey Riess, Sikeston Lumber Co.; Dorothy Eldridge, Lair Co.; Ann Adams, Sensenbaugh Bros.; Ruth Felker, Welter Bake Shop; Virginia Randol, Elite Hat Shop; Maxine Sellards, Dempster Furniture Co.; C. O. Bishop, Famous Red and White Store; Lela Stacy, Sikeston Greenhouses; Wilma Johnston, Powder Puff Beauty Shop; Nola Poteet, Shainberg's; Vernetta Smith, Sikeston Standard; Neva Mae Taylor, Tiny Beauty Salon; Marie Moody, Sikeston Laundry; Mildred Brewer, Galloway's; Camille Bloomfield, Scott County Milling Co.

The following ten firms helped to sponsor the revue but failed to be represented on the stage: Del Rey Hotel, Bijou Confectionery, Sarsars, Sikeston Cleaning Company, Marshall Hotel, Mitchell-Sharp Chevrolet, Sterling's, Dudley's Confectionery, Faultless Cleaners, and White's Drug Store.

Quite naturally politics played a large part in the election of the five girls that were chosen. Nevertheless the girls chosen are truly represenitive of the beauty of Sikeston.

The contest was under the able direction of Mrs. Ceceile Mayfield Exum and Mrs. Emma A. Anderson who are to be congratulated on their efficient work.

BULLDOGS MEET BLUEJAYS ON MISSISSIPPI CO. FIELD

The Bulldogs are getting some tough workouts every afternoon this week in preparation for the game at Charleston Friday afternoon. Charleston will be one of the toughest teams the Bulldogs will meet during the season and today's game is sure to be one of the best games in this part of the country this week end.

The usual successful passing attack seems to be absent from the Charleston squad this year or maybe they are saving it for us. The Charleston lads will far outweigh our own boys but from the exhibition of charging and blocking the Bulldogs put on in their first two games the Bluejays will probably welcome that extra advantage.

The Bluejays, like the Bulldogs, have won both their opening games, from Matthews 14 to 0 and from Chaffee last Friday 7 to 0.

The highway will be open between Bertrand and Charleston Friday and traffic will travel the old route.

MOTHER AND SON KILLED IN CRASH

Luxora, Ark., Oct. 3.—A mother, her son and an infant granddaughter were killed in a peculiar double traffic accident on Highway 61, two miles north of here.

Mrs. G. A. Roper, 65, of Hill House, Miss., was fatally injured when the truck in which she was riding from her home to Kennett, Mo., to pick cotton, hit a drainage ditch railing, throwing her from the cab of the vehicle.

The driver of the truck, Walter Sowell, hailed another truck and left the lights on his own vehicle burning. The driver of a third truck, blinded by the lights, struck W. R. Roper, 40, also of Hill House, killing him and the baby, Dorothy Lucille Roper, he was holding in his arms. Roper, son of Mrs. Roper, was crossing the highway to confer with the driver of the of the second truck.

Mrs. Roper died en route to a Blytheville hospital.

Loan Shark Victim Wins in Circuit Court

"Salary buying," an illegal subterfuge used by a type of loan sharks dealing with wage earners, whereby they extort an interest rate of 240 per cent per annum and upward, on the pretense of "buying wages," was involved in a suit tried in Judge Hall's division of the Circuit Court, Sept. 18 and 19, 1933.

Clark G. Hardeman, of the Service Purchasing Company, Holland building, St. Louis, was the plaintiff. Hardeman testfied that he had purchased the account from T. R. Smith of the Victor Trading Company. H. H. Roberts, a Missouri Pacific employee, was the defendant.

Former Justice of the Peace Elmer Moone, in November, 1928, decided against Roberts and in favor of the "salary buyer." Roberts, with the cooperation of the Better Business Bureau of St. Louis, appealed to the Circuit Court.

Testimony by Hardeman and Roberts developed the usual "salary buying" practice—$25.00 had been received from the "salary buyer" by the victim with the understanding that he would pay back $27.50 the next pay day two weeks later—an interest rate of 240 per cent per year.

The court submitted to the jury the question of whether the transactions were purchases of wages or loans of money. The jury found for the defendant on both counts. Lawrence McDaniel and J. E. Patton represented Roberts, while the firm of Foristel, Mudd, Blair & Habenicht, and Clark G. Hardeman and J. J. Tomasso, were attorneys for Hardeman.

The Better Business Bureau of St. Louis has, for over six years, been engaged in a vigorous campaign against usurious money lending (including "salary buyig"), and has cooperated with a number of victims of "salary buyers." There are now about twenty of these cases pending on appeal in the Circuit Court of St. Louis.

It was the first cse to be tried, and its successful conclusion vindicates the long fight of the Better Business Bureau, as well as justifies the belief the other cases will also result in verdicts against "salary buying" and in favor of victims.

At Fair Cafe

Although a fan and a hat are all Consuelo Gomez wears when she dances at the Chicago World's Fair's Old Mexico, they are an expensive costume, for the hat alone cost $1,000. It was purchased from a famed Mexican general.

Patrol Grows Hot and Hard

The State of Missouri has become an exceptionally "hot" territory for mid-western criminals, due to the operations of the State Highway Patrol, and steadily will become hotter as the policies of Colonel B. M. Casteel, director, are carried out. Records in the Patrol office in Jefferson City show that crime clean-ups in Missouri since the present administratoin assumed control last winter have been such as would do credit to some of the oldest ad most hard-boiled police organizations on the continent.

Five "big-time" gangsters and criminals, as criminals are rated in this section of the country, have been killed in recent weeks by Missouri patrolmen, assisted in some instances by other peace officers. They include Jim Gardner, notorious Southeast Missouri character; Ray Probst, south Missouri bandit and hold-up man who was killed at Flat River; Buck Barrow, wanted in Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas for divers major crime, who was fatally shot in a gun bttle at Platte City; Harold Thornbrough, wanted for murder and bank robbery, who was killed at Hopkins; Bud Love, wanted for highway robbery and forgery, who was killed at Willow Springs. Love was also suspected of having killed a man in a garage holdup at Sedalia some months ago.

It may be added here, in fairness to the previous administration, that much similar work was done by the Patrol last year. However, the operatives of the department have become much more seasoned and better versed in the details of their duties in recent months and are now headed by an intrepid former soldier who is making of the Patrol a hard-boiled and perfectly systematized organization for the combatting of crime in its most serious forms.

"We are going to make Missouri so hot for thugs," Colonel Casteel said, "that bandits, murderers and holdup men will detour around this state. When we start after a man, we will get him, regardless of time, effort or money necessary to effect his capture. My men are fearless, eternally vigilant and tenacious. I have their fullest cooperation because I do not ask a one of them to perform a duty that I would not tackle myself."

MALONE TRIAL SET FOR OCTOBER 18

The trial of John R. Malone is set for Wednesday, October 18 at Charleston. The case will be tried before Judge Green.

Manon of Corraway, Ark., one daughter, Mrs. Maude Sitzes of Sikeston, and 15 grand children and 2 great grandchildren.

HIGHWAY 60 EAST OPEN FOR FRIDAY

Division Engineer Towse informed The Standard that Highway 60 from Bertrand east to Charleston will be open for traffic Friday morning. This will be fine as a great many from Sikeston will attend the football game in that city Friday afternoon between Sikeston and Charleston. Neither team has lost a game and the friendly rivalry existing will make this one of the hardest fought games of the season.

MISSOURI WHEAT FARMS

According to the United States Census for 1929, Scott county had 686 farms growing wheat. The State Farm Census made by the assessor found 413 in 1930, and 512 in 1931, and 447 in 1932 with the average of 457 farms growing wheat covered by Missouri Farm Census for 1930-1932. Average wheat acreage per farm by the United States Census in 1929 was 518 acres. Average from our assessor 50.4 in 1930 and 59.4 for 1931 with 28.6 acres in 1932.

Columbia, Mo., Oct. 4.—Total number of Missouri farmers growing wheat in 1929 was 50,450 as taken from the Federal Census records and from the State Farm Census made each year by the assessors showed 59,296 farmers raising wheat in 1931, which increase, according to E. A. Logan, Allotment Officer of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, was caused by the effort of farmers to meet feed conditions occasioned by the drouth of 1930.

In 1932 the assessors reported 56,203 farmers growing wheat, many of whom in the central and southern counties were farmers using wheat to provide pasture and feed for hogs in mid-summer. It is believed that assessors did not secure all of the farms in the state that were growing wheat in the last few years, because Mr. Logan points out that some of the township assessors in Bates, Caldwell, Daviess, Henry and Vernon counties were negligent in listing the farms in several townships. The assessors in Atchison and New Madrid counties made no farm listings for 1932, also violating the State Farm Census Act and tending to the serious disadvantage of their farmers.

On account of these delinquencies, it is quite likely, according to the Allotment Officer, that the total wheat allotment of these counties as derived from the total state production, is not all that these counties are entitled to and that as a consequence, the individual farmers in these counties may have suffered a smaller allotment because of the neglect of their assessors.

In northwest Missouri, Platte and Nodaway counties have the largest number of farmers growing wheat; in north central, Carrol and Chariton; northeast, Pike and Marion; west, Lafayette (1649 largest number) and Bates; central, Saline and Cooper; east, St. Charles and Franklin; southwest, Jasper and Lawrence; south central, Bollinger and Webster, and southeast, Cape Girardeau and Scott.

The average wheat acreage per farm taken from the census in 1929 was 30.4 and the assessors records average around 3 to 9 acres less per farm which indicates that the larger wheat farms were probably not listed by the assessors. The highest average acreage per farm in northwest Missouri is found in Platte and Buchanan counties; in north central section, Carroll and Chariton, while in northeast Missouri, Pike and Ralls have the highest acreages. In the west, Jackson and Lafayette; in central, Saline and Cooper; eastern counties have the largest acreage per farm in St. Charles and Lincoln; southwest, Jasper and Barton; south central, Iron and Madison, and in southeast Missouri, Mississippi (68.9 acres highest for state) and New Madrid counties have the larger acreages per farm. Of the 55,000 or so farms now growing wheat, 8307 had applied for allotment up to September 23, representing 279,144 wheat acres.

Avoid All Fad Diets And Quacks If You Value Your Good Health

Dr. Shirley W. Wynne Warns Overweights Against Reducing Pills, Soaps, Salts

This is the third of a series of articles on weight control by Dr. Wynne.

By Dr. Shirley W. Wynne
Commissioner of Health, New York City

No field related to medicine contains more quacks and fakers than that of weight control, largely because of the feeling that dieting involves rigorous self-denial or other unpleasant experiences. Proper dieting does not.

At almost any hour one may turn on the radio and hear extolled the wonders of a new reducing salt, pill or appliance. Newspapers and magazines also carry such advertising. Even one's friends, uninformed, are apt to urge the use of some nostrum of unknown content and effect.

The promoters of patented products often describe their treatment as "scientific" or "modern." I have heard radio speakers tell of salts which when placed in the bath are guaranteed by the promoters to reduce anyone quickly and without recourse to diet or exercise. Others declare all overweight due to glandular disturbances, for which their tablets are said to be corrective.

Let Your Doctor Treat You

It is obvious that none of these things can produce the desired result with safety. If they are harmless they are fraudulent; if not, they are dangerous to health. If you suspect your overweight is due to glandular disturbances or other organic disease, consult your physician at once. Do not risk ruining your health with patent medicines.

The only scientific way to reduce weight is to eat properly and to exercise moderately. Proper eating does not mean starvation, but rather the selection of the right foods, including leafy vegetables, fruits and milk, rather than the heavier, high-calory foods. The sample diets printed with these articles will serve to guide you in correct food selection.

SLIMMING DIET

Here is the third of a series of suggested weight reducing diets prepared for this paper by Dr. Wynne. Each diet provides about 1200 calories daily. Calculate your calories as shown in the first article of this series, and adjust the diet to your needs by taking smaller or larger portions of the food indicated in plain type. Do not change the quantities of the foods in boldface type. These are the protective foods, and must be taken as indicated.

GAME AND FISH NEWS

Distribute Baby Fish at Branson

The annual distribution of fish fingerlings and frys from the Roark Creek State Hatchery at Branson started Monday morning of this week. Water from the brood ponds was pumped off and the baby fish placed in cans and removed to the small creeks tributary to Lake Taneycomo where they will be permitted to develop to catchable size. The hatch this year is said to be the largest in several years. The distribution work is under the supervision of J. L. Crook, superintendent of the Higginsville Hatchery, and T. P. Brown of the Branson Hatchery. Bass, crappie and bluegill are to be found largely in the Roark hatchery.

Many Visitors at Sequiota State Park

Rolla Wells, superintendent of the Sequiota State Park and Hatchery, six miles south of Springfield, on U. S. Highway 65, reports that the number of visitors to the park and camp grounds is increasing. Last Sunday was one of the biggest days of the season at the park, he says. Because of its accessibility and excellent camping grounds Sequiota is thronged with visitors and picnickers, especially on the week-end and holidays. The park cave is also a point of interest. The underground stream which flows from the cavern extends back about 1400 feet, permitting the floating of a flat bottom boat in which visitors are taken through the cave. The fish hatchery is also a feature of the park. The rearing pools are now filled with fingerling trout which are to be distributed soon to cold water streams throughout the state. Guy Berry, fish culturist at the park, is now quite busy making fish deliveries to various parks in the state. Berry is one of the most experienced men in the state in rearing and distributing members of the finy tribe.

Roaring River State Park a Mecca

In visiting Missouri's system of state-owned parks, you will make a mistake if you fail to see the Roaring River State Park and Hatchery, located eight miles south of Cassville in Barry county. The park may now be reached over the new park-connecting highway No. 112 out of Cassville. The construction of the C. C. C. permanent camp in the park is now being rushed to completion. C. C. C. boys are also making some very fine improvements in the park proper. A bridal path along the cliff has been completed and observation towers and fire lands constructed. The Roaring River Park comprises 2400 acres and is one of those natural wonders for which the state is noted. The large spring from which Roaring River rises is one of the features of the park and is unequalled in scenic beauty in this or any other state. The spring issues from the base of a high cliff, furnishing water for the hatchery and rearing pools below. Thousands of beautiful rainbow trout are now in the pools awaiting distribution, Hugh Brixey, park superintendent, states.

Charleston, Sept. 29.—An announcement of much interest to many relatives and friends in Southeast Missouri was made this week, when Mr. and Mrs. J. Dabney Smith of Clarksdale, Miss., announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Martha James, to Mr. George Martin Burns, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Burns of Charleston, Mo.

Miss Smith attended Gulfport College, Gulfport, Mississippi, and the University of Mississippi at Oxford, Mississippi. She is a member of the Phi Mu Sorority.

Mr. Burns attended St. Mary's College, St. Mary's, Kansas, and is now connected with the United States Army as construction engineer.

The wedding will take place early in October.

HEAD OF HENRY IV OF FRANCE REPORTED FOUND; LONG LOST

Paris, Sept. 29.—A mummified head believed to be that of King Henry IV, is now in the possession of a Montmarte photographer named Bourdais, according to the novelist, Paul Reboux, writing in the current issue of "Vu."

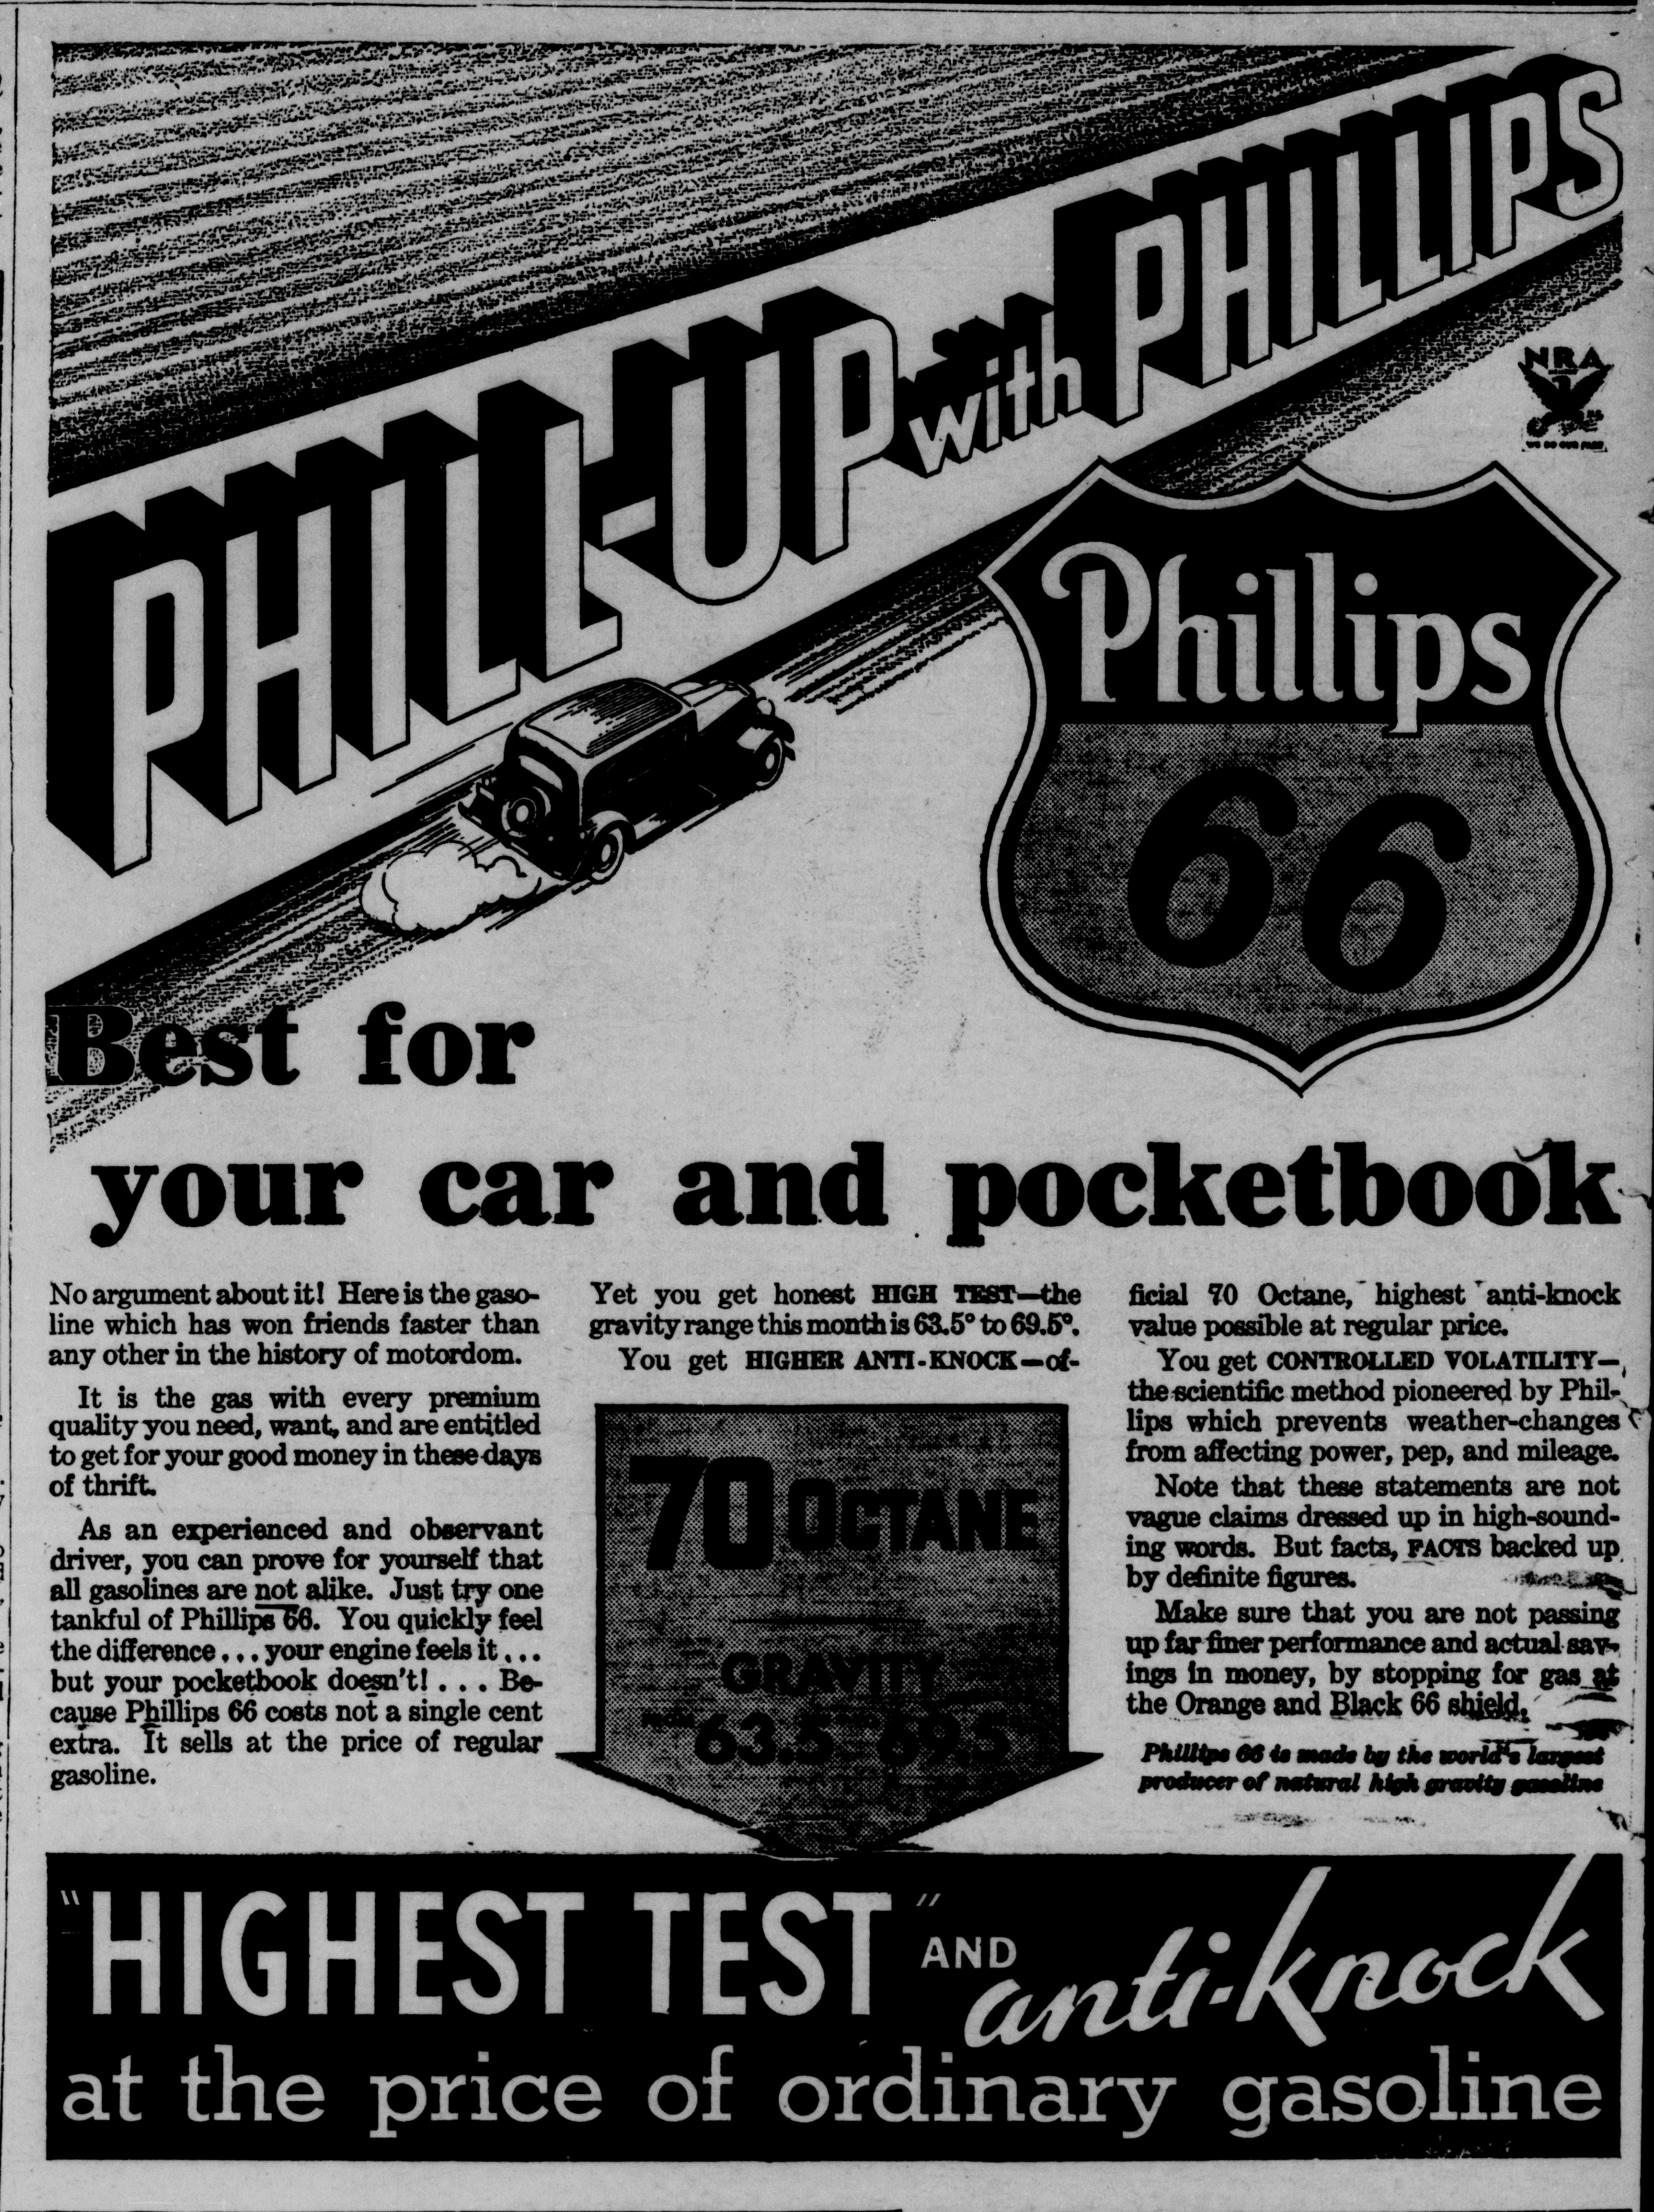
The photographer bought the head at an auction in 1919 for 3 francs.

The general cast of countenance, a mole and other marks, Reboux says, have convinced the owned that it is really that of the King. Since the violation of the royal tombs during the French Revolution the head of Henry IV has not been accounted for.

Henry IV, also known in history as Henry of Navarre, and the Henry the Great of France, was the founder of the Bourbon line of Kings of France. A descendant of Robert de Clermont, who was the sixth son of Louis IX (St. Louis), and of Jeanne d'Albret, he was born in 1553; on his mother's death he became King of Navarre. With the assassination of Henry III, as champion of the Protestant party, he became King of France in 1589. He was assassinated in 1610.

M. U. SPORT NEWS

When the University of Missouri Tiger football team meets the Kirksville State Teachers College eleven at Columbia on October 7th five thousand Boy Scouts from all over the state of Missouri will witness the game, according to C. L. Brewer, Director of Athletics of the University of Missouri. Invitations have been sent out to all scout troops, scout masters, assistant masters and all registered scouts in the state, asking them to be the guests of the University of Missouri at the sceond game of the season. Over two hundred scouts are expected from Jefferson City alone and many of the organizations probably will bring their own band and drum corps. The entire body of Scouts, in uniform, will parade in the stadium, either before the game or between halves. A special section of seats in the stadium will be reserved for them and a University cheer leader will lead them in taking part in the cheering.



Best for your car and pocketbook

No argument about it! Here is the gasoline which has won friends faster than any other in the history of motordom.

It is the gas with every premium quality you need, want, and are entitled to get for your good money in these days of thrift.

As an experienced and observant driver, you can prove for yourself that all gasolines are not alike. Just try one tankful of Phillips 66. You quickly feel the difference . . . your engine feels it . . . but your pocketbook doesn't! . . . Because Phillips 66 costs not a single cent extra. It sells at the price of regular gasoline.

Yet you get honest HIGH TEST—the gravity range this month is 63.5° to 69.5°.

You get HIGHER ANTI-KNOCK—official 70 Octane, highest anti-knock value possible at regular price.

You get CONTROLLED VOLATILITY—the scientific method pioneered by Phillips which prevents weather-changes from affecting power, pep, and mileage.

Note that these statements are not vague claims dressed up in high-sounding words. But facts, FACTS backed up by definite figures.

Make sure that you are not passing up far finer performance and actual savings in money, by stopping for gas at the Orange and Black 66 shield.

Phillips 66 is made by the world's largest producer of natural high gravity gasoline

CHARLESTON BLUE JAYS WIN OVER CHAFFEE RED DEVILS 7 TO 0

Charleston, Mo., Sept. 29.—The Charleston Blue Jays won their second gridiron victory of the season here this afternoon, defeating the Red Devils from Chaffee 7-0. The Jays won last week, 13-0 over Matthews and will play Sikeston next Friday, October 6th on the local gridiron.

A fumble in the first quarter by Storey of Chaffee, led to the Charleston score. On several line plays, the Jays carried the ball from the 13 yard line over for the touchdown. Goodin, Charleston quarter back, plunged over from the one yard marker after bringing the ball down there from the 9 yard stripe. Goodin also made his place-kick good for the extra point. The running of Goodin and Bynum for Charleston, and Morgan, Cline and Storey for Chaffee were features of the game. The individual star of the game was Story, Charleston center, who made over half of the Charleston tackles. Hay, Charleston end, also sparkled on the defense.

Chaffee outgained the Charlestonians in total yards gained in scrimmage, 176 to 94. In the aerial attack, Charleston attempted four passes, and completed 1 for 22 yards. Chaffee attempted 5 and completed 1 for 6 yards. Both teams intercepted 2 passes.

Tom Bynum held a very slight edge over Frasier in punting, punting 12 times for 351 yards, an average of 29 1-4 yards. Frasier punted 9 times for 260 yards, an average of 28 8-9 yards.

Charleston fumbled but 2 times and recovered both times in addition to two of Chaffee's fumbles. Chaffee fumbled 5 times and recovered 3 times. Charleston was penalized 6 times for a total of 56 yards, while Chaffee felt on three penalties for 25 yards.

Chaffee put on a determined drive for the goal in the last quarter, gaining 72 yards in scrimmage and registering 5 first downs.

Officials for the game were Lyle Gore, Cairo, referee, and Jimmy Darrow, Cairo, umpire.

MORAL FROM WIDOW'S EXPERIENCE

Bankers and life insurance men are familiar with the raids made on widows to induce them, in their inexperience, to invest the proceeds of their husband's life insurance policies in wildcat securities, are based on this danger, which is very real and causes great loss and hardship in thousands of cases.

The Insurance Field cites an interesting case of a widow who was recently swindled out of investments made with insurance money paid over twenty years ago. The money was recovered for the widow by the agent who insured her husband thirty years previously. He is the kind of agent who believes he owes service to his clients, even after policies are paid. Armed with the facts, he went half way across the United States to the office of the offending company and, with the aid of the local district attorney, secured the return of every cent.

The loss of money, as in this case, is very common. Its return is uncommon. The moral is: Don't speculate with insurance funds; secure the aid of the insurance company or a responsible agency for their investment.

BLOOMFIELD TO SEE ABOUT NEW ELECTRIC PLANT

Bloomfield, Oct. 3.—At a special meeting of the City Council, City Attorney Munger was authorized and requested to take up the matter of a municipal light plant with the R. F. C. and find out whether or not the terms required for getting the necessary money to construct such a plant could be met.

Attention to the fact that Bloomfield is paying perhaps the peak price charged by any utility company supplying current in this part of the state, was called by Mayor Dunn. Further discussion of the question disclosed that the contract entered into by the city with utility company for street lighting purposes, expires in about a year. Members of the council who expressed opinions were agreed that the rate paid for the volume used, is excessive.

EVERYONE PAYS FOR FIRE

Safeguarding America Against Fire offers a thought that every citizen should bear in mind during and after Fire Prevention Week: You pay for fire insurance even though you never bought a policy in your life.

It's as certain and as inevitable as that inescapable pair, death and taxes. If you rent an apartment or a building, the owner has fire insurance and its cost is reflected in your rent. Insurance must be included in the cost of a suit or a can of beans or a theatre ticket. The factory that made your automobile and the dealer that sold it have insurance—it's part of their operating cost, and must be absorbed by income from sales.

As a result, the cutting down of fire loss is everyone's business. Over a long period of time every fire is reflected in the cost of insurance—every community's insurance rating is based on the actual experience in that area. Lowering fire loss won't reduce the cost of policies this week or next month—but it will do that eventually, or prevent increases that would otherwise be made.

If ever a movement deserved unanimous support, Fire Prevention Week does. Officials all the way from the councilmen of towns to the President of the United States, strive to make it a success. Every kind of civic and business and public organization cooperates. It is all done in the public interest—and the success or failure of it is put squarely up to the individual citizen.

BETTER HOMES FOR LESS MONEY

A release of the Portland Cement Association observes that good small homes now cost much less than they used to—and depression prices for building materials are not the only reason.

Industry is being encouraged to produce modern, permanent, low-cost housing—the day when any old house would do is definitely at an end. And, as the release phases it, "After two or three years of more or less graceful starvation, architects, engineers and builders are discovering that it is just as worthwhile to do a good job on several small projects as it is to do a fancy piece of work for a millionaire."

A cheaply-built house is an expensive house, no matter what its original cost may have been. The country is full of jerry-built homes which burn easily, are too hot in summer, too cold in winter, and are generally uncomfortable. Modern building practices provide inexpensive houses which are models of fire-safety, insulated against heat and cold, and attractive in design.

This really is the time to build—and if you hurry up about it, you'll be able to get your house for an abnormally low price. And if you don't need a home now, or can't afford one, it's an excellent time for repairing and modernizing the old dwelling from basement to roof. Investment and productive private employment are essential to national recovery and prosperity.

M. U. ENROLLMENT REACHES 3029

The College of Business and Public Administration has just one student less than a year ago and the College of Fine Arts two less.

GRADING ON SPUR NORTH OF SIKESTON

The contractor for the concrete spur north of Kingshighway to Highway 61, a trifle over a mile in length, is now at work and with reasonably good weather expects to have the spur completed about December 1st, or soon after.

This spur will prove a great convenience to travelers entering Sikeston from the north and to our people who are bound north.

CRASH NEAR MINER SWITCH

A car driven by Mrs. Kernell drove onto the highway Tuesday afternoon near Miner Switch and crashed into a machine driven by Louis Flewelling of Sikeston. Mrs. H. O. Sexon, who was a passenger in the Sikeston car, suffered a bad cut on her left hand. Walter Kendall and Mrs. Kendall who were also passenger in the same, suffered bruises.

The woman drove from behind a parked truck and apparently did not see the Flewelling car. She crashed into the right rear of the car turning it over. The Sikeston car was badly damaged.

LEARN A LESSON FROM LADIES' AUXILIARY

The Chronicle, of Clarendon, Va., recently published an article urging local citizens to take an interest in the local fire department and ascertain its needs from the standpoint of being properly equipped with standard apparatus capable of protecting life and property at all times.

It pointed out that a town might save a few thousand dollars a year by maintaining an inferior department, but only at the risk of loss of life and thousands of dollars in property damage.

Answering this article, the president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Clarendon Volunteer Fire Department, wrote the editor stating that all the lady members of the Auxiliary had visited the Clarendon fire department, looked over its personnel and apparatus, found it well equipped and an efficient fire-fighting machine.

In closing its communication to the editor, the Ladies' Auxiliary proposed a new slogan: "Take a look, but also help support your fire department."

That is the proper spirit! There are thousands of towns in the United States that could save millions of dollars in fire losses and actually hundreds of lives if the local citizens individually, or through their civic bodies, would demand an adequate fire department and encourage its maintenance.

Never was there such an opportune time to improve fire protection. Under the public works program of the government, financing, with federal funds, of self-liquidating undertakings, is being encouraged. The government loans money toward the establishment of such projects on long time at low interest rates, and actually gives a discount of 30 per cent on the amount borrowed. Reduction of fire losses is self- liquidating in the truest sense of the word in that it prevents loss of business, interruption of trade, unemployment, loss of population and actually reduces taxes, insurance costs and like expenditures.

Burned factories, homes, warehouses, etc., cause misery and want in any community. There is probably no more truly self-liquidating public work that can be done for the benefit of all the people in a community, than the establishment of modern, scientific fire protection with adequate apparatus and water supply.

FIRE PREVENTION AIDS RECOVERY PROGRAM

For the first eight months of 1933 the National Board of Fire Underwriters estimates the national fire loss at $224,904,141, as compared with $310,078,321 for same period in 1932.

With such a wonderful start on reduction of fire losses for the year, Fire Prevention Week, which occurs from October 8 to 14, should give added impetus to the fire prevention movement and encourage the making of a record year for low fire losses. This would be a blessing to the nation in its recovery struggle.

Fire causes the loss of thousands of lives annually. Men lose jobs and wages, and government collects no taxes on burned buildings. It is estimated that 43 per cent of business houses which burn annually, do not resume operations.

Insurance costs are based on fire losses—whether your own property burns or not, you pay insurance because it is part of the cost of operation in all business.

Let every man and woman be their own fire inspector—look at the heating plant, clean up the basement, take trash out of the attic, dispose of oil or paint covered rags, keep hot ashes out of combustible containers, fix wiring connections and check a hundred things they can do to prevent fire. Be careful of matches and smoking.

Farmers should be doubly concerned about fire and use every preventative measure possible, because they have little protection once a fire is started.

Fire Prevention Week draws attention to the importance of fire prevention and activities against the fire hazard should continue throughout the year.

Fire destroys life, property, progress and prosperity.

NOT NECESSARY TO BUY STOCK TO HOLD HIGHWAY POSITIONS

Jefferson City, Oct. 3.—With approval of the State Highway Commision, orders have been issued by T. H. Cutler, chief engineer of the Highway Department, that employees need not purchase stock in any company in order to keep their jobs.

The order was issued after an alleged attempt to use political pressure in the sale of building and loan stock to highway department employes in the St. Joseph division of the office was placed before the commission in an executive session held recently in St. Louis.

Two salesmen for the North American Savings and Loan Association, Kansas City, are alleged to have attempted to use a letter to H. M. Brush, division engineer at St. Joseph, from T. J. Pendergast, head of the Kansas City Democratic organization, to boost their sales. Brush told the commission about the letter in the executive session of the commission several weeks ago.

"Orders that no employee had to purchase stock in any company in order to keep his job were issued by me and approved by the commission the minute we were notified," the chief engineer said.

There is a long standing rule against soliciting among employees at headquarters here and at division offices, Cutler said.

RULES LEGISLATURE MUST REORGANIZE

Jefferson City, Oct. 3.—Adjournment of the fifty-seventh General Assembly on April 25 dissolved organization of the two branches of the Legislature, making it necessary to reorganize at a special session, Attorney-General Roy McKittrick ruled today.

"It is the opinion of this department that when the fifty-seventh General Assembly of 1933 adjourned April 25, 1933, sine die, it was the dissolution of that organization, and that in the event the Governor exercises his power and calls an extra session it will be necessary to re-elect officers who presided over the fifty-seventh General Assembly or to elect officers in their places," Oliver W. Nolen, an assistant Attorney-General, held in an opinion approved by McKittrick.

The opinion was written in reply to a request for a ruling from Mrs. Grace Shay, chief stenographer of the fifty-seventh General Assembly, who asked if the elective officers of the regular session would be called back to act or if new officers would be elected.

Although there has been a move among a group of Legislators opposing the Meredith-Keating leadership in the House to elect new officers, the movement apparently has not gained much headway. W. H. Meredith, Poplar Bluff, speaker during the last regular session, and Edgar J. Keating, Kansas City, majority floor leader, are expected to again lead the lower House.

There has been no move to overthrow the leadership of Michael Kinney, St. Louis, as speaker pro tem of the Senate, and Senator Phil M. Donnelly, Lebanon, as majority floor leader in the upper branch.

SAVING ON PLATES FOR THE NEXT YEAR

Missouri's next issue of automobile license plates will be bought at a saving of $19,000 under the closing year's issue, due to the fact that they will be manufactured in the State Prison by the state's own factory, according to V. H. Steward, commissioner of motor vehicles in the office of Dwight H. Brown, Secretary of State.

The 57th General Assembly of this year created the new license plate factory which has recently been installed at the penitentiary. As a result, the next issue of plates will cost only eleven cents per set, as against a purchase price of thirteen and 7-10 cents last year. Approximately 625,000 pairs of passenger car plates and 100,000 pairs for trucks have been ordered.

Work on the manufacture of the of the 1934 plates will be started upon the receipt of the envelopes in which they are mailed out, which have been ordered through the State Printing Commission.

The above saving does not take into account the cost of pasteboard boxes in which the tags are packed, however. The plates are packed fifty sets in a box. This cost, though, is comparatively negligable, it is said.

The color scheme of the new plates will be white letters and figures on a black background.

The plans now are to present the show at the high school gym at Matthews Friday night, October 13th.

Community Fair a Success

The second annual school and Community Fair was held at Canalou on Friday, Sept. 29th. The exhibits were far superior to those of last year, and were viewed by many more people. A baby clinic was held in the afternoon by Dr. W. N. O'Bannon and Dr. Howard Dunaway, assisted by Mrs. Dunaway, Mrs. Gorden B. Nance and Miss Ellen Caverno. Nineteen babies were examined and blue ribbons went to Clara Mae Harr, aged six months, and to Johnny Lee Bonner, age 22 months. The babies were judged from the standpoint of health, not beauty.

At an early hour people began to arrive to view the various booths that were prepared the afternoon and night before. The exhibits consisted of farm products, fresh vegetables and fruit, cut flowers, home cooking, canned products, art work, novelty assortment, heirlooms and the school display.

The stunts and field events in the afternoon included a husband calling contest, won by Mrs. Mary Blakinship, and the second honor went to Mrs. W. H. Werner. The rolling pin throwing was won by Mrs. Charley Volz and Mrs. Nathanial Hewitt took a close second. In the hog calling contest, Bud Marris took the first place and Isom Cummons won second honors. Women's basketball throw for distance, 1st, Stella Poe, and 2nd Mrs. P. L. McLaurin. Girls basketball throw for distance was won by Virginia McLaurin, and 2nd went to Appalone Taul. The men's tug of war was a tie as neither team could pull the other over the line and finally the rope broke and let all fall. These teams were composed of five men from River Ridge and five men from Canalou. The women's tug of war was won by the Canalou women. There were a number of stunts for the grade children which consisted of potato races, sack races, egg race, tug of war, wheel barrow race, etc. The elephant race, wheel barrow race, three legged race and several others were won by boys and girls from the River Ridge school. We hope that next year there will be representatives from the Caverno school.

The evenings entertainment was a Century of Progress in ladies' dresses with a musical setting. The costumes modelled included mother hubbard, hoop skirts, bustle, hobble skirt, old and new bathing suits, the merrywidow hat, wedding dress and others. This part of the program certainly was well attended as the gymnasium was crowded. All present enjoyed the program very much.

The proceeds of the Fair go to the curtain fund which is steadily mounting. It is hoped that the curtain can be purchased in the near future.

Incubators Save Babies' Lives

CYBIL is only as large as a milk bottle, but in a few weeks she will be drinking a bottle of milk daily. She is one of the premature babies that are being nursed back to health and strength in infant incubators in one of the exhibits in A Century of Progress Exposition.

Dr. Martin A. Couney, in charge of the incubators, who has cared for 10,000 infants in the last forty years, says 85 per cent of prematurely born babies can be saved.

Until they are strong enough to be returned to their mothers, the babies are kept at a constant temperature in glass-inclosed incubators. The building itself is built of pressed wood and masonite, a wood-fiber insulation board, to protect the interior against the extreme heat of summer.

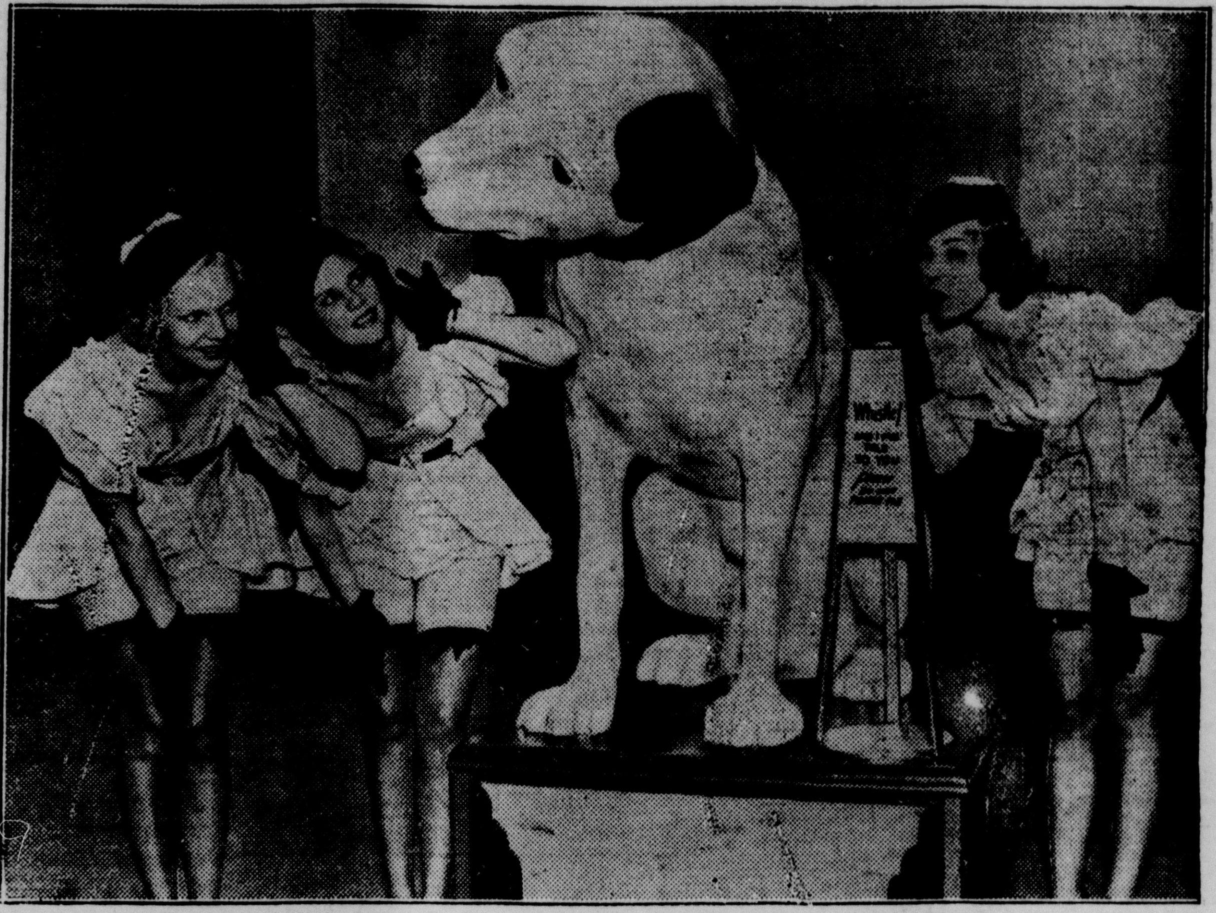
Cuba has acquired a new president, and before the crown, silk hat or whatever the insignia of command in the island may be, is well poised on his head, those who do not like him are suggesting that he should step down. Latin-American presidents are called upon to keep stepping most of the time. Speaking of stepping, perhaps what Cuba really needs is a little of the hard-boiled rule commonly attributed to step mothers.

The League of Nations has not travelled so far in some respects as its friends desired, but it seems to be making a fairly good showing in many ways, for instance in the handling of money. Its securities are located in about twenty-five countries and it has less than six investments that are not up to standard, so far as yielding a steady and undiminished return is concerned. Judging from what has happened to investments, both public and private, during the last few years, it might be a good thing for the League to be entrusted with bonds, even if all are not quite ready to entrust it with the handling of bayonets.

A woman matador has appeared in Mexico. After leading the animal a merry chase to the amusement of the spectators, a man entered the ring to dispatch him. What might otherwise be an ungallant remark is rendered less so by the fact that it was a lady who made it. She says that women are prone to start what they cannot finish, and that although they may be able to shoot the bull, killing the bull is a task for the male sex.

An old miner has discovered a cave in the Painted Hills of Nevada, the walls of which are composed of ore that will assay about a thousand dollars to the ton. The N. R. A. is working well. Even nature cannot hoard her gold.

Lucky Dog at Chicago's World's Fair



"These days are certainly 'dog days' when there is company like this!" says the Victor Talking Dog in the RCA-Victor exhibit in the Radio and Communications Building at the Chicago World's Fair—A Century of Progress. Adelaide Raleigh (left) is whistling into the dog's microphone to make him talk to her, while Lucille Bredin (left) and Dorothy Morgan listen.

About the middle of December, a payment will be due on the war debts. Theoretically, if the European debtors do not intend to pay, they should give three months notice. The day has passed, but notice has not been given. So one seriously believes that this means that payment will be made on the date when payment is in order.

Things undoubtedly will jog along on the old no-pay basis. We need the money, but we shall not get it. The only compensation which we have is that the war debts do not trouble us so much as formerly. It is worth something to have one thing less to worry about. Philosophy and not cash will afford relief when the fifteenth of December rolls around.

Washington Comment

The sources of power in Washington to which the people are accustomed to look for guidance and action have not been idle of late, so far as efforts to rehabilitate business and keep things going generally are concerned. It is proposed to loan money to banks and similar institutions at a rate of interest which will enable them to lend it out again, still at a reasonable percent, to concerns which will obligate themselves to use it in a bona fide attempt to build up business and add names to their pay rolls. The re-financing of mortgages on farm property may not have gone forward so rapidly as some had hoped, but this has been due to the difficulty in finding experienced help to carry on the somewhat technical task that is involved. This short-coming in the operation of the re-financing government bonds with its available funds is more marked, and money will be put in circulation accordingly. The foregoing are cited merely as examples of what is being done, and constitute by no means a complete summary of what has been brought to pass in the way of facilitating recovery.

Conditions undeniably have improved. Of this there are many evidences, not the least significant of which is the decrease of business failures. For instance, the number of failures lately reported for a single week amounted to approximately half as many as were reproted for the corresponding week in 1932, and to about that percent of the number that appear on the records for 1931. The business pulse seems to be beating more strongly and with more regularity, and it is safe to assume that there may be merit in the suggestion that all that is required is a little more patience.

LAIR STORE NEWS

"That Interesting Store"

HOUSE FURNISHINGS

Our 36 Year in S. E. Mo.

Many are inquiring about oil heaters for one, two and up to four rooms. We have both the Florence and Perfection lines and are assured by the makers that room heaters for coal oil or distillate are no longer experimental. The absence of all ashes, cinders, dust, etc., is a great advantage in using oil fuel. Four models are being shown and demonstrated. Either may be purchased on weekly or monthly payments.

Many compliments have been received on our furniture exhibit at Benton on Neighbor Day. Sam Rajotte is entirely responsible for the pretty setting, having made all selections and arrangements without other help than the porter.

Not a day passes now without several deliveries of heating stoves, most of them made by Moore. The few dollars extra first cost of a Moore's Heater may be saved many times over to the owner in the saving of coal. They are guaranteed to save at least 25% fuel in comparison to old fashioned heaters.

Buyers of living room suites will serve themselves profitable by looking over forty or fifty staple values now being shown. Tapestry in rust and green, Jacquards in popular shades and mohairs in many colors constitute the coverings.

"FORWARD" is the word, toward better and happier standards of living, in the "New Deal" program. As a modest distributor of merchandise that is within reach of the great masses of people we are trying our very best to conduct a store that will not only make it's owners a few dollars but will be counted as a credit to Sikeston. We solicit trade from all classes but no "high pressure" methods are used in selling.

The new line of Majestic radios is, without question, the outstanding radio showing of the season. Particular reference is made to several small modernistic styles running in price from $23.50 to 49.50. Several new console models are also in the assortment, every one a beauty.

ALL COTTON CHECKS MAILED BY OCT. 15

C. L. Malone, president of the Sikeston Chamber of Commerce, is in receipt of a telegram from Washington, in answer to an inquiry as to when cotton checks would be mailed, in which the information was given that 500,000 checks had been mailed, 40,000 per day were going out and all would be in the mail by October 15.

This will be good news to all as much disappointment has been manifested by farmers who destroyed cotton acreage.

WELTER NEW LEGION POST COMMANDER

At their regular meeting Wednesday night in the Armory, the American Legion accepted the report of the nominating committee and elected new officers. Ben Welter was elected Post Commander; Dr. C. W. Limbaugh, first vice-commander; Robley Lennox, second vice commander; C. A. Patrick, third vice commander; Oscean Carroll, adjutant; Sam Wilcox, historian; Father Woods, chaplain, and Harry Camden, sergeant-at-arms.

The new officers will be installed at a joint meeting of the Legion and the Auxiliary on October 20. The meeting dates were changed from the first and third Wednesdays in each month to the first and third Fridays.

Thursday at noon a car whisked past the editor's home but stopped half a block beyond and a very splendid looking young woman got out of the car, came back and asked if we were Mary Watkins father. We plead guilty and learned she was from DeSoto, Mo., and knew our daughter now living in that city. We never did get her name, but she said she knew us because we were wearing a grey derby hat and she heard it was the only one in this section of the United States. See what a hat will do for you.

DO YOUR PART NOW

Production, continued production, is necessary if our manufacturing plants are to keep men employed. Buying power must be built. Buying power must be used. Only through consumption which demands increased production can payrolls be built up. No plant can continue to operate beyond consumer demand.

A dollar spent now for building does two things. It helps the construction industry put back to work thousands of skilled and unskilled workers; it buys needed materials now cheaper than they can be bought later. Even though the cost is now higher than it was a few months ago this merely proves that costs are increasing. To save money and create jobs, act NOW.

Statistics show a shortage of over 1,000,000 houses. This figure is based on a definite survey in 257 cities. Millions of homes already built are sorely in need of modernizing—a concrete driveway, a basement, a paint job, a new roof, refurnishing.

A dollar will buy more for you today, do more for your country, than later. Ask yourself, "How can I best do my part?"

GAME AND FISH NEWS

Logan Willis, state game warden for District 21 comprising Miller, Osage, Cole and Maries counties, believes he has estbalished a state record in killing predatory hawks. Since May 1st Mr. Willis has killed 157 hawks. John Workman of Brown Shanty is also a hawk and owl hunter deserving commendation. Mr. Workman has a hawk whistle that he says brings them to him without fail. This week he killed one with a wing spread of 42 inches that he had called to a dead tree limb.

Howard Steen who lives a few miles up Current River from Doniphan, Mo., fishing with a trot line and doing some fly fishing on the side, in one day caught a large bass weighing from one-half pound to two pounds, and one jack salmon weighing ten pounds. Steen returned the smaller bass to the water as caught and the ten pounder which he kept, made a nice string. The jack was caught on a trout line.

M. C. Snively, a Chicago public accountant, writes the Game and Fish Department, expressing his appreciation of efficient and courteous treatment afforded him and his wife while on a recent visit to Alley Spring State Park, near Eminence in Shannon County. "We have never had the pleasure of receiving more consideration or attention from a public servant than that received from Mt. Lawson, the caretaker," he writes. The Snivelys plan to return to Missouri for a float trip on Current River.

Senator Lon Haymes with two friends from Springfield, fishing on White River above Lake Taneycomo last week, caught 24 bass as well as several perch and crappie. The party made a 16-mile float trip from Kimberling Ferry to Tablerock.

Hunters who go afield this fall are admonished to kill all the crows possible. Of all the predators, the crow is classed with the the cat, one of the worst. A dead crow may mean life for a hundred valuable birds.

"Since the hunting season is near at hand," The Ellington Press advises, "and there are reports of an abundance of deer, turkey and quail in the country, every hunter should lose no time in taking out his state hunting license."

Irby C. Henry, state representative from Shannon County, a caller at the Game & Fish Department this week, reports a large number of deer in the southeastern section of his county, especially west of Deer Run State Park. Deer are also to be found in large numbers, he says, in the northeast part of Oregon county in what is known as the "Irish Wilderness." An abundance of quail is also reported, especially in the wooded sections, Mr. Henry says. "Last week I observed several large covies, one of some thirty young birds," he stated.

Shoal Creek in McDonald county has been stocked with some 10,000 game fish, including bass, perch, bluegill and rock bass. The fish were furnished by the U. S. Hatchery at Neosho. The fry ran between three and eight inches in length and were distributed under the direction of Firman Burt, President of the Sportsman's Protective League.

Though more or less domesticated cats are classed with deer, foxes, rabbits and hares, as wild animals, an old English law reveals. Cats belong to no one unless kept in close confinement.

The City of Memphis, Mo., has received 1500 bluegill, bass and crappie fish for restocking the Municipal Lake. The fish were shipped from the Forest Park Hatchery at St. Louis.

To keep them working at full strength the Civilian Conservation Corps will be continued through next winter and spring by order of President Roosevelt. More than 310,000 men, including 240,000 youths between 18 and 25 years old, 30,000 foresters, 26,000 World War veterans and 14,400 Indians, thus are assured of work in forestry camps and on conservation projects for an additional 6 months beyond the six-month term for which they were recruited.

SIKESTON STANDARD

Southeast Missouri's Leading Semi-Weekly

VOLUME 22 — SIKESTON, SCOTT COUNTY, MISSOURI FRIDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1933 — NUMBER 2

THE EDITOR SAYS—

H. W. Turner and R. L. Lovvern, representing the Central States Life Insurance Co. of St. Louis in this section, have recently disposed of some of their land holdings under terms that no tenant farmer who can kick up $100 in cash can afford to turn down. A tract of 40 acres was sold to a farmer in Dunklin county and another tract to a farmer in Mississippi county on the payment of $100 cash and the contract to turn in 4 bales of cotton each year for 10 years. At the end of 5 years a deed to the land will be given. This looks to us like a mighty god proposition for a tenant farmer to own enough land to make his living on, and a good proposition for the insurance company to unload some of their land holdings.

The Constitution says we are all born equal. Maybe so. God so willed that some of us should be handsome in form and face, while some should be ugly in face and deformed in body. Generally, those who have the handsomest face have the ugliest disposition while within the ugly body is a heart and soul that radiates beauty that makes them loved and respected by all with whom they contact.

Garbage burned in the alley back of the Emergency Hospital sends forth an odor that is nausiating to well folks and to sick folks it is worse. Don't know who is responsible for the mess, but it should be abated.

The T. A. Wilson family and furniture left for Jefferson City Wednesday afternoon where they will make their home. For nearly twenty years they have been our next door neighbors, and good ones, too. They have not bothered us and we have not bothered them. We have swapped confidences, butter, sugar and the like, and none have been betrayed and all repayed. We'll miss them at our house but they will not be forgotten and when the time comes for them to return to Sikeston we'll welcome them with the best we have.

Our attention has been called to the fact that some children way under the age of 16 are being permitted to drive cars, and drive fast, too. This should not be permitted as no kid can handle a car as well as a grown person and somebody is going to be killed or crippled. Parents should not premit this and officers should take them in charge.

It is going to be a very delicate task to write the story of the Beauty Revue at the Malone Theatre Tuesday evening, therefore we shall leave it to Bob Nicholson, who is a younger nan and more fleet of foot. If we had been selecting the five beauties there would have been a few changes in the front rank. However, there was not a Bugger in the Bunch.

We listened to Mr. Charles H. Diel, executive secretary of the Missouri Retailers Association out of St. Louis, Wednesday forenoon in a meeting of merchants and business men at the Missouri Utilities Co. office. He was advocating organizing the retail merchants of the State to combat legislation that will be offered at the special legislative session that might be a hardship on retailers. He had special reference to the general sales tax that may be offered in some form or other to raise revenue for the State. At this time the Retail Association have offered nothing better than a sales tax and the money must come from some source. If a sales tax is put on the statute book it should be passed on to the consumer in order that every individual shall pay something toward the upkeep of State institutions. If something better is offered we are for it.

A complaint has been made to The Standard that small light bulbs were installed in the Sunset Addition in place of the large size used in other sections of the city, If this is true, it shouldn't be as these people were nearly 100 per cent for the municipal bond election and should be treated as other citizens. However, we are not running the plant.

Forecast Bureau Predicts 20 cent Cotton Coming

(International Market Forecast Bureau, New York)

The present position of the cotton market is seemingly as unshakeable as the Rock of Gibraltar. The fact that our Government has announced that it will loan the farmer 10 cents at interior points will relieve the cotton market from any hedge pressure, and any decline that might occur from this level on account of the weak stock market will be of short duration. Right now there are too many cotton bears and too pessimistic a view is being taken of the cotton supply situation. Bears fail to realize that the foundation for a real bull cotton market has already been laid and that statistics are the post-mortem verdict. Manipulation may artificially depress cotton prices for a time, but the law of supply and demand will sooner or later hold its sway; in fact, it is no longer a question of supply, but one of demand and demand is improving all the time. This statement is borne out by the fact that consumption continues on an unusually large scale and now exceeds the 1930 consumption by more than 3,000,000 bales. Exports are also increasing and are now 75,000 bales ahead of last year. Evidently the foreign spinner continues to be enthused over the idea that American cotton is still cheap. After all is said and done, cotton is really more valuable than gold. Cotton is the friend of the poor and the luxury of the rich; it is made into cloth so coarse that it sells for a few cents a yard; it is made into fabric so fine and so beautiful that it cannot be told from silk and if there were no cotton, the civilized world, including Mahatma Ghandhi, would have to go naked. Cotton will gain strength as it moves higher—it is the one commodity that has been designated to lead the world out of this depression. Old King Cotton will soon regain his throne and the farmer who fails to take advantage of the government plan to hold his cotton, will look backward one year from now with regret and remorse.

(Note to Editor: We suggest you publish the above letter. It will undoubtedly save your community hundreds of thousands of dollars. Each bale of cotton that is sold now helps depress the cotton futures market. We have the largest cotton forcast clientele in the world and our advice is only sent to subscribers who pay from $120 to $350 per year for same. However, we are sincerely trying to help the farmer increase his purchasing power by not dumping his cotton on a market which his own government is trying to advance for him.)

RISING VALUES REQUIRE INCREASED FIRE INSURANCE

After three years during which policyholders had to cut down their fire insurance to keep pace with steadily declining values, the reverse situation has arisen.

During the last ninety days, the dise have increased so materially that insured values are now lagging behind replacement costs and in the event of loss many property owners will find themselves inadequately insured.

At this critical point in the recovery program, a loss inadequately insured is a crushing blow that few are capable of withstanding. Increase in values make it dangerous to wait for existing policies to expire before increased protection.

The problem of the assured whose policies carry the co-insurance or average clause, is especially pressing. In these cases, there should be no delay in increasing the amounts of insurance to comply with the co-insurance requirements.

The indications are that there will be a heavy demand for seed of the soil building crops next year, according to County Agent Furry. It seems entirely feasible that all farmers save seed of soil building crops this fall, in anticipation of the demand next spring. The reason for this demand will lie in changes taking place in the cropping system of farmers cooperating with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. There is going to be a reduction called for in cotton acreage, corn acreage and wheat. Idle land is to be put in soil building crops to meet the regulations of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. This means that there will be an unusually large number of acres next year seeded to cow peas, soybeans and korean lespedeza. These three classes of seed in particular should have a reasonable demand.

Capital War Memorial Receives First Award

THE District of Columbia war memorial in Potomac Park has been chosen by the architectural committee of the Washington Board of Trade as the most outstanding memorial erected in the national capital in the last two years. The memorial, of white Vermont Marble, is a Greek Doric temple large enough to accommodate an eighty-piece band. It was designed by F. H. Brooke, Washington architect, with Horace W. Peaslee and Nathan Wyeth, both of Washington, as consultants.

AS I SEE IT

Observations by Bob Nicholson

Justice is popularly pictured as being blindfolded. Four people state that a person is one place at a certain time, one person states that he was at another place at that time. The one person is upheld by the law. We would say that justice can not only see but she sees all. Take notice youse guys.

In a civil suit tried in the New Madrid city court years ago six men were chosen as jurors. All six were active practicing lawyers. Was that verdict complicated?

Despite the NRA certain Shylocks in our fair city still continue to get their pound. Alas! Alas! Utopia.

One of the late nightly features of one of the carnival shows was a display of nudism but the boys just looked bored. Oh yeah!

In Kansas City a promoter laid plans for an indurance ice sitting contest. The entrants were to wear bathing suits and sit on cakes of ice. The Mayor stepped in and stopped all that. There wouldn't be any contest to it if several yound ladies I know were entered. Chilly! And How!

A beautiful young lady sat on a cake of ice, as cold as cold could be, but soon she up and walked away, "My tale is told," said she.

"Hambone" Coleman went to Charleston and stoled another cullud boy's girl but not until after he had whipped the boy and then loaned him enough money to cross the bridge and leave the state.

I was disappointed at the beauty contest because I couldn't get a seat on the bald-head row. All the gals certainly looked lovely and I congratulate them all. Here is to the Sikeston girl who will win at Malden, whoever she maybe.

Oh, these beauty contests. Were some of the boys burned up, wow.

Has anyone tried pronouncing the name of that club in Vienna. Only 81 letters but what letters.

Hunt Missouri Shucking Champion for 1933

Scott county corn shuckers are invited to try-out for a place in the big Missouri state contest which will be held in Linn county, early in November, by the Linn County Farm Bureau; J. Robert Hall, county agent, and the Missouri Rurlist. Our county champion, when we find him, will be eligible to enter the state meet where he will have a chance at winning a big share of $100 in cash prizes offered by Missouri Ruralist, St. Louis. In addition the Missouri shucking champion will get a free trip to the national shucking contest in Nebraska where he will represent Missouri, and have a chance at winning other cash prizes ranging from $10 to $100, and the honor of being national champion. The second high Missouri man also gets to enter the national.

For a start, every corn shucker who wishes to try out for a place in the big state contest should send his name immediaiely to the Corn Shucking Conest Editor, Missouri Ruralist, 2206 Pine St., St. Louis, Mo. When he does this he will be properly enrolled in his county contest, his name will be sent to his county contest leader and he will be informed where and when his contest will be held. If he wins, he goes into the state meet. If he doesn't, there is nothing to lose.

Because county contests must be held late in October it is important to get your name in right away. Let's get a champion in Scott county who will walk away with the state championshp, and then trim the huskers from Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Nebraska, Minnesota, South Dakota, Kansas and Ohio in the national contest.

Local Girls Chosen to Compete at Malden

Thirty-one beautiful young ladies, representing as many local firms, appeared on the stage of the Malone Theatre, Tuesday night in a beauty revue. Five of the girls were chosen to represent Sikeston at the Malden Fall Festival where other girls from this section will compete Thursday night for the tittle, "Miss Southeast Missouri." The winner at Malden will be awarded a trip to the World's Fair in Chicago.

The five girls selected by the audience with written votes were, Ann Beck, H. and H. Grocery; Jennilee Sells, F. W. Woolworth Co.; Jane Mitchell, A. and P. Tea Co.; Helen Virginia Keith, Midwest Ice Cream Co., and Evelyn Ward, International Shoe Co.

Patrons were treated to a dazzling array of beautiful girls and beautiful gowns. Three points were asked to be considered in choosing the lucky ladies, beauty of face and figure, poise, and personality.

Following is list of other young ladies who competed and the firms they represented. Margaret Evans, Cook's Califo Market; Imogene Albritton, Graber's Department Store; Patsy Ruth Gentles, Missouri Utilities Co.; Catherine Ann Cook, Buckner-Ragsdale Company; Virginia Mount, Malone's Drug Store; Marie Patterson, Kroger Stores; Mary Hunter, Peacock Beauty Salon; Francis Aufenberg, Peoples Store; Margaret Fisher, Pitman Tailor Shop; Dorothy Lee Waller, Scott County Motor Co.; Evelyn Allard, Anne's Beautye Shop; Audrey Riess, Sikeston Lumber Co.; Dorothy Eldridge, Lair Co.; Ann Adams, Sensenbaugh Bros.; Ruth Felker, Welter Bake Shop; Virginia Randol, Elite Hat Shop; Maxine Sellards, Dempster Furniture Co.; C. O. Bishop, Famous Red and White Store; Lela Stacy, Sikeston Greenhouses; Wilma Johnston, Powder Puff Beauty Shop; Nola Poteet, Shainberg's; Vernetta Smith, Sikeston Standard; Neva Mae Taylor, Tiny Beauty Salon; Marie Moody, Sikeston Laundry; Mildred Brewer, Galloway's; Camille Bloomfield, Scott County Milling Co.

The following ten firms helped to sponsor the revue but failed to be represented on the stage: Del Rey Hotel, Bijou Confectionery, Sarsars, Sikeston Cleaning Company, Marshall Hotel, Mitchell-Sharp Chevrolet, Sterling's, Dudley's Confectionery, Faultless Cleaners, and White's Drug Store.

Quite naturally politics played a large part in the election of the five girls that were chosen. Nevertheless the girls chosen are truly representive of the beauty of Sikeston.

The contest was under the able direction of Mrs. Ceceile Mayfield Exum and Mrs. Emma A. Anderson who are to be congratulated on their efficient work.

BULLDOGS MEET BLUEJAYS ON MISSISSIPPI CO. FIELD

The Bulldogs are getting some tough workouts every afternoon this week in preparation for the game at Charleston Friday afternoon. Charleston will be one of the toughest teams the Bulldogs will meet during the season and today's game is sure to be one of the best games in this part of the country this week end.

The usual successful passing attack seems to be absent from the Charleston squad this year or maybe they are saving it for us. The Charleston lads will far outweigh our own boys but from the exhibition of charging and blocking the Bulldogs put on in their first two games the Bluejays will probably welcome that extra advantage.

The Bluejays, like the Bulldogs, have won both their opening games, from Matthews 14 to 0 and from Chaffee last Friday 7 to 0.

The highway will be open between Bertrand and Charleston Friday and traffic will travel the old route.

MOTHER AND SON KILLED IN CRASH

Luxora, Ark., Oct. 3.—A mother, her son and an infant granddaughter were killed in a peculiar double traffic accident on Highway 61, two miles north of here.

Mrs. G. A. Roper, 65, of Hill House, Miss., was fatally injured when the truck in which she was riding from her home to Kennett, Mo., to pick cotton, hit a drainage ditch railing, throwing her from the cab of the vehicle.

The driver of the truck, Walter Sowell, hailed another truck and left the lights on his own vehicle burning. The driver of a third truck, blinded by the lights, struck W. R. Roper, 40, also of Hill House, killing him and the baby, Dorothy Lucille Roper, he was holding in his arms. Roper, son of Mrs. Roper, was crossing the highway to confer with the driver of the of the second truck.

Mrs. Roper died en route to a Blytheville hospital.

Loan Shark Victim Wins in Circuit Court

"Salary buying," an illegal subterfuge used by a type of loan sharks dealing with wage earners, whereby they extort an interest rate of 240 per cent per annum and upward, on the pretense of "buying wages," was involved in a suit tried in Judge Hall's division of the Circuit Court, Sept. 18 and 19, 1933.

Clark G. Hardeman, of the Service Purchasing Company, Holland building, St. Louis, was the plaintiff. Hardeman testfied that he had purchased the account from T. R. Smith of the Victor Trading Company. H. H. Roberts, a Missouri Pacific employee, was the defendant.

Former Justice of the Peace Elmer Moone, in November, 1928, decided against Roberts and in favor of the "salary buyer." Roberts, with the cooperation of the Better Business Bureau of St. Louis, appealed to the Circuit Court.

Testimony by Hardeman and Roberts developed the usual "salary buying" practice—$25.00 had been received from the "salary buyer" by the victim with the understanding that he would pay back $27.50 the next pay day two weeks later—an interest rate of 240 per cent per year.

The court submitted to the jury the question of whether the transactions were purchases of wages or loans of money. The jury found for the defendant on both counts. Lawrence McDaniel and J. E. Patton represented Roberts, while the firm of Foristel, Mudd, Blair & Habenicht, and Clark G. Hardeman and J. J. Tomasso, were attorneys for Hardeman.

The Better Business Bureau of St. Louis has, for over six years, been engaged in a vigorous campaign against usurious money lending (including "salary buyig"), and has cooperated with a number of victims of "salary buyers." There are now about twenty of these cases pending on appeal in the Circuit Court of St. Louis.

It was the first cse to be tried, and its successful conclusion vindicates the long fight of the Better Business Bureau, as well as justifies the belief the other cases will also result in verdicts against "salary buying" and in favor of victims.

Patrol Grows Hot and Hard

The State of Missouri has become an exceptionally "hot" territory for mid-western criminals, due to the operations of the State Highway Patrol, and steadily will become hotter as the policies of Colonel B. M. Casteel, director, are carried out. Records in the Patrol office in Jefferson City show that crime clean-ups in Missouri since the present administratoin assumed control last winter have been such as would do credit to some of the oldest ad most hard-boiled police organizations on the continent.

Five "big-time" gangsters and criminals, as criminals are rated in this section of the country, have been killed in recent weeks by Missouri patrolmen, assisted in some instances by other peace officers. They include Jim Gardner, notorious Southeast Missouri character; Ray Probst, south Missouri bandit and hold-up man who was killed at Flat River; Buck Barrow, wanted in Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas for divers major crime, who was fatally shot in a gun bttle at Platte City; Harold Thornbrough, wanted for murder and bank robbery, who was killed at Hopkins; Bud Love, wanted for highway robbery and forgery, who was killed at Willow Springs. Love was also suspected of having killed a man in a garage holdup at Sedalia some months ago.

It may be added here, in fairness to the previous administration, that much similar work was done by the Patrol last year. However, the operatives of the department have become much more seasoned and better versed in the details of their duties in recent months and are now headed by an intrepid former soldier who is making of the Patrol a hard-boiled and perfectly systematized organization for the combatting of crime in its most serious forms.

"We are going to make Missouri so hot for thugs," Colonel Casteel said, "that bandits, murderers and holdup men will detour around this state. When we start after a man, we will get him, regardless of time, effort or money necessary to effect his capture. My men are fearless, eternally vigilant and tenacious. I have their fullest cooperation because I do not ask a one of them to perform a duty that I would not tackle myself."

HIGHWAY 60 EAST OPEN FOR FRIDAY

Division Engineer Towse informed The Standard that Highway 60 from Bertrand east to Charleston will be open for traffic Friday morning. This will be fine as a great many from Sikeston will attend the football game in that city Friday afternoon between Sikeston and Charleston. Neither team has lost a game and the friendly rivalry existing will make this one of the hardest fought games of the season.

MISSOURI WHEAT FARMS

According to the United States Census for 1929, Scott county had 686 farms growing wheat. The State Farm Census made by the assessor found 413 in 1930, and 512 in 1931, and 447 in 1932 with the average of 457 farms growing wheat covered by Missouri Farm Census for 1930-1932. Average wheat acreage per farm by the United States Census in 1929 was 518 acres. Average from our assessor 50.4 in 1930 and 59.4 for 1931 with 28.6 acres in 1932.

Columbia, Mo., Oct. 4.—Total number of Missouri farmers growing wheat in 1929 was 50,450 as taken from the Federal Census records and from the State Farm Census made each year by the assessors showed 59,296 farmers raising wheat in 1931, which increase, according to E. A. Logan, Allotment Officer of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, was caused by the effort of farmers to meet feed conditions occasioned by the drouth of 1930.

In 1932 the assessors reported 56,203 farmers growing wheat, many of whom in the central and southern counties were farmers using wheat to provide pasture and feed for hogs in mid-summer. It is believed that assessors did not secure all of the farms in the state that were growing wheat in the last few years, because Mr. Logan points out that some of the township assessors in Bates, Caldwell, Daviess, Henry and Vernon counties were negligent in listing the farms in several townships. The assessors in Atchison and New Madrid counties made no farm listings for 1932, also violating the State Farm Census Act and tending to the serious disadvantage of their farmers.

On account of these delinquencies, it is quite likely, according to the Allotment Officer, that the total wheat allotment of these counties as derived from the total state production, is not all that these counties are entitled to and that as a consequence, the individual farmers in these counties may have suffered a smaller allotment because of the neglect of their assessors.

In northwest Missouri, Platte and Nodaway counties have the largest number of farmers growing wheat; in north central, Carrol and Chariton; northeast, Pike and Marion; west, Lafayette (1649 largest number) and Bates; central, Saline and Cooper; east, St. Charles and Franklin; southwest, Jasper and Lawrence; south central, Bollinger and Webster, and southeast, Cape Girardeau and Scott.

The average wheat acreage per farm taken from the census in 1929 was 30.4 and the assessors records average around 3 to 9 acres less per farm which indicates that the larger wheat farms were probably not listed by the assessors. The highest average acreage per farm in northwest Missouri is found in Platte and Buchanan counties; in north central section, Carroll and Chariton, while in northeast Missouri, Pike and Ralls have the highest acreages. In the west, Jackson and Lafayette; in central, Saline and Cooper; eastern counties have the largest acreage per farm in St. Charles and Lincoln; southwest, Jasper and Barton; south central, Iron and Madison, and in southeast Missouri, Mississippi (68.9 acres highest for state) and New Madrid counties have the larger acreages per farm. Of the 55,000 or so farms now growing wheat, 8307 had applied for allotment up to September 23, representing 279,144 wheat acres.

Avoid All Fad Diets And Quacks If You Value Your Good Health

Dr. Shirley W. Wynne Warns Overweights Against Reducing Pills, Soaps, Salts

This is the third of a series of articles on weight control by Dr. Wynne.

By Dr. Shirley W. Wynne
Commissioner of Health, New York City

No field related to medicine contains more quacks and fakers than that of weight control, largely because of the feeling that dieting involves rigorous self-denial or other unpleasant experiences. Proper dieting does not.

At almost any hour one may turn on the radio and hear extolled the wonders of a new reducing salt, pill or appliance. Newspapers and magazines also carry such advertising. Even one's friends, uninformed, are apt to urge the use of some nostrum of unknown content and effect.

The promoters of patented products often describe their treatment as "scientific" or "modern." I have heard radio speakers tell of salts which when placed in the bath are guaranteed by the promoters to reduce anyone quickly and without recourse to diet or exercise. Others declare all overweight due to glandular disturbances, for which their tablets are said to be corrective.

Let Your Doctor Treat You

It is obvious that none of these things can produce the desired result with safety. If they are harmless they are fraudulent; if not, they are dangerous to health. If you suspect your overweight is due to glandular disturbances or other organic disease, consult your physician at once. Do not risk ruining your health with patent medicines.

The only scientific way to reduce weight is to eat properly and to exercise moderately. Proper eating does not mean starvation, but rather the selection of the right foods, including leafy vegetables, fruits and milk, rather than the heavier, high-calory foods. The sample diets printed with these articles will serve to guide you in correct food selection.

SLIMMING DIET

Here is the third of a series of suggested weight reducing diets prepared for this paper by Dr. Wynne. Each diet provides about 1200 calories daily. Calculate your calories as shown in the first article of this series, and adjust the diet to your needs by taking smaller or larger portions of the food indicated in plain type. Do not change the quantities of the foods in boldface type. These are the protective foods, and must be taken as indicated.

GAME AND FISH NEWS

Distribute Baby Fish at Branson

The annual distribution of fish fingerlings and frys from the Roark Creek State Hatchery at Branson started Monday morning of this week. Water from the brood ponds was pumped off and the baby fish placed in cans and removed to the small creeks tributary to Lake Taneycomo where they will be permitted to develop to catchable size. The hatch this year is said to be the largest in several years. The distribution work is under the supervision of J. L. Crook, superintendent of the Higginsville Hatchery, and T. P. Brown of the Branson Hatchery. Bass, crappie and bluegill are to be found largely in the Roark hatchery.

Many Visitors at Sequiota State Park

Rolla Wells, superintendent of the Sequiota State Park and Hatchery, six miles south of Springfield, on U. S. Highway 65, reports that the number of visitors to the park and camp grounds is increasing. Last Sunday was one of the biggest days of the season at the park, he says. Because of its accessibility and excellent camping grounds Sequiota is thronged with visitors and picnickers, especially on the week-end and holidays. The park cave is also a point of interest. The underground stream which flows from the cavern extends back about 1400 feet, permitting the floating of a flat bottom boat in which visitors are taken through the cave. The fish hatchery is also a feature of the park. The rearing pools are now [illegible] with fingerling [illegible] which are to be distributed soon to cold water streams throughout the state. Guy Berry, fish culturist at the park, is now quite busy making fish deliveries to various parks in the state. Berry is one of the most experienced men in the state in rearing and distributing members of the finy tribe.

Roaring River State Park a Mecca

In visiting Missouri's system of state-owned parks, you will make a mistake if you fail to see the Roaring River State Park and Hatchery, located eight miles south of Cassville in Barry county. The park may now be reached over the new park-connecting highway No. 112 out of Cassville. The construction of the C. C. C. permanent camp in the park is now being rushed to completion. C. C. C. boys are also making some very fine improvements in the park proper. A bridal path along the cliff has been completed and observation towers and fire lands constructed. The Roaring River Park comprises 2400 acres and is one of those natural wonders for which the state is noted. The large spring from which Roaring River rises is one of the features of the park and is unequalled in scenic beauty in this or any other state. The spring issues from the base of a high cliff, furnishing water for the hatchery and rearing pools below. Thousands of beautiful rainbow trout are now in the pools awaiting distribution, Hugh Brixey, park superintendent, states.

HEAD OF HENRY IV OF FRANCE REPORTED FOUND; LONG LOST

Paris, Sept. 29.—A mummified head believed to be that of King Henry IV, is now in the possession of a Montmarte photographer named Bourdais, according to the novelist, Paul Reboux, writing in the current issue of "Vu."

The photographer bought the head at an auction in 1919 for 3 francs.

The general cast of countenance, a mole and other marks, Reboux says, have convinced the owned that it is really that of the King. Since the violation of the royal tombs during the French Revolution the head of Henry IV has not been accounted for.

Henry IV, also known in history as Henry of Navarre, and the Henry the Great of France, was the founder of the Bourbon line of Kings of France. A descendant of Robert de Clermont, who was the sixth son of Louis IX (St. Louis), and of Jeanne d'Albret, he was born in 1553; on his mother's death he became King of Navarre. With the assassination of Henry III, as champion of the Protestant party, he became King of France in 1589. He was assassinated in 1610.

M. U. SPORT NEWS

When the University of Missouri Tiger football team meets the Kirksville State Teachers College eleven at Columbia on October 7th five thousand Boy Scouts from all over the state of Missouri will witness the game, according to C. L. Brewer, Director of Athletics of the University of Missouri. Invitations have been sent out to all scout troops, scout masters, assistant masters and all registered scouts in the state, asking them to be the guests of the University of Missouri at the sceond game of the season. Over two hundred scouts are expected from Jefferson City alone and many of the organizations probably will bring their own band and drum corps. The entire body of Scouts, in uniform, will parade in the stadium, either before the game or between halves. A special section of seats in the stadium will be reserved for them and a University cheer leader will lead them in taking part in the cheering.

Best for your car and pocketbook

No argument about it! Here is the gasoline which has won friends faster than any other in the history of motordom.

It is the gas with every premium quality you need, want, and are entitled to get for your good money in these days of thrift.

As an experienced and observant driver, you can prove for yourself that all gasolines are not alike. Just try one tankful of Phillips 66. You quickly feel the difference . . . your engine feels it . . . but your pocketbook doesn't! . . . Because Phillips 66 costs not a single cent extra. It sells at the price of regular gasoline.

Yet you get honest HIGH TEST—the gravity range this month is 63.5° to 69.5°.

You get HIGHER ANTI-KNOCK—official 70 Octane, highest anti-knock value possible at regular price.

70 OCTANE

GRAVITY FROM 63.5° TO 69.5°

You get CONTROLLED VOLATILITY—the scientific method pioneered by Phillips which prevents weather-changes from affecting power, pep, and mileage.

Note that these statements are not vague claims dressed up in high-sounding words. But facts, FACTS backed up by definite figures.

Make sure that you are not passing up far finer performance and actual savings in money, by stopping for gas at the Orange and Black 66 shield.

Phillips 66 is made by the world's largest producer of natural high gravity gasoline

CHARLESTON BLUE JAYS WIN OVER CHAFFEE RED DEVILS 7 TO 0

Charleston, Mo., Sept. 29.—The Charleston Blue Jays won their second gridiron victory of the season here this afternoon, defeating the Red Devils from Chaffee 7-0. The Jays won last week, 13-0 over Matthews and will play Sikeston next Friday, October 6th on the local gridiron.

A fumble in the first quarter by Storey of Chaffee, led to the Charleston score. On several line plays, the Jays carried the ball from the 13 yard line over for the touchdown. Goodin, Charleston quarter back, plunged over from the one yard marker after bringing the ball down there from the 9 yard stripe. Goodin also made his place-kick good for the extra point. The running of Goodin and Bynum for Charleston, and Morgan, Cline and Storey for Chaffee were features of the game. The individual star of the game was Story, Charleston center, who made over half of the Charleston tackles. Hay, Charleston end, also sparkled on the defense.

Chaffee outgained the Charlestonians in total yards gained in scrimmage, 176 to 94. In the aerial attack, Charleston attempted four passes, and completed 1 for 22 yards. Chaffee attempted 5 and completed 1 for 6 yards. Both teams intercepted 2 passes.

Tom Bynum held a very slight edge over Frasier in punting, punting 12 times for 351 yards, an average of 29 1-4 yards. Frasier punted 9 times for 260 yards, an average of 28 8-9 yards.

Charleston fumbled but 2 times and recovered both times in addition to two of Chaffee's fumbles. Chaffee fumbled 5 times and recovered 3 times. Charleston was penalized 6 times for a total of 56 yards, while Chaffee felt on three penalties for 25 yards.

Chaffee put on a determined drive for the goal in the last quarter, gaining 72 yards in scrimmage and registering 5 first downs.

Officials for the game were Lyle Gore, Cairo, referee, and Jimmy Darrow, Cairo, umpire.

MORAL FROM WIDOW'S EXPERIENCE

Bankers and life insurance men are familiar with the raids made on widows to induce them, in their inexperience, to invest the proceeds of their husband's life insurance policies in wildcat securities, are based on this danger, which is very real and causes great loss and hardship in thousands of cases.

The Insurance Field cites an interesting case of a widow who was recently swindled out of investments made with insurance money paid over twenty years ago. The money was recovered for the widow by the agent who insured her husband thirty years previously. He is the kind of agent who believes he owes service to his clients, even after policies are paid. Armed with the facts, he went half way across the United States to the office of the offending company and, with the aid of the local district attorney, secured the return of every cent.

The loss of money, as in this case, is very common. Its return is uncommon. The moral is: Don't speculate with insurance funds; secure the aid of the insurance company or a responsible agency for their investment.

BLOOMFIELD TO SEE ABOUT NEW ELECTRIC PLANT

Bloomfield, Oct. 3.—At a special meeting of the City Council, City Attorney Munger was authorized and requested to take up the matter of a municipal light plant with the R. F. C. and find out whether or not the terms required for getting the necessary money to construct such a plant could be met.

Attention to the fact that Bloomfield is paying perhaps the peak price charged by any utility company supplying current in this part of the state, was called by Mayor Dunn. Further discussion of the question disclosed that the contract entered into by the city with utility company for street lighting purposes, expires in about a year. Members of the council who expressed opinions were agreed that the rate paid for the volume used, is excessive.

EVERYONE PAYS FOR FIRE

Safeguarding America Against Fire offers a thought that every citizen should bear in mind during and after Fire Prevention Week: You pay for fire insurance even though you never bought a policy in your life.

It's as certain and as inevitable as that inescapable pair, death and taxes. If you rent an apartment or a building, the owner has fire insurance and its cost is reflected in your rent. Insurance must be included in the cost of a suit or a can of beans or a theatre ticket. The factory that made your automobile and the dealer that sold it have insurance—it's part of their operating cost, and must be absorbed by income from sales.

As a result, the cutting down of fire loss is everyone's business. Over a long period of time every fire is reflected in the cost of insurance—every community's insurance rating is based on the actual experience in that area. Lowering fire loss won't reduce the cost of policies this week or next month—but it will do that eventually, or prevent increases that would otherwise be made.

If ever a movement deserved unanimous support, Fire Prevention Week does. Officials all the way from the councilmen of towns to the President of the United States, strive to make it a success. Every kind of civic and business and public organization cooperates. It is all done in the public interest—and the success or failure of it is put squarely up to the individual citizen.

BETTER HOMES FOR LESS MONEY

A release of the Portland Cement Association observes that good small homes now cost much less than they used to—and depression prices for building materials are not the only reason.

Industry is being encouraged to produce modern, permanent, low-cost housing—the day when any old house would do is definitely at an end. And, as the release phases it, "After two or three years of more or less graceful starvation, architects, engineers and builders are discovering that it is just as worthwhile to do a good job on several small projects as it is to do a fancy piece of work for a millionaire."

A cheaply-built house is an expensive house, no matter what its original cost may have been. The country is full of jerry-built homes which burn easily, are too hot in summer, too cold in winter, and are generally uncomfortable. Modern building practices provide inexpensive houses which are models of fire-safety, insulated against heat and cold, and attractive in design.

This really is the time to build—and if you hurry up about it, you'll be able to get your house for an abnormally low price. And if you don't need a home now, or can't afford one, it's an excellent time for repairing and modernizing the old dwelling from basement to roof. Investment and productive private employment are essential to national recovery and prosperity.

The College of Business and Public Administration has just one student less than a year ago and the College of Fine Arts two less.

LEARN A LESSON FROM LADIES' AUXILIARY

The Chronicle, of Clarendon, Va., recently published an article urging local citizens to take an interest in the local fire department and ascertain its needs from the standpoint of being properly equipped with standard apparatus capable of protecting life and property at all times.

It pointed out that a town might save a few thousand dollars a year by maintaining an inferior department, but only at the risk of loss of life and thousands of dollars in property damage.

Answering this article, the president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Clarendon Volunteer Fire Department, wrote the editor stating that all the lady members of the Auxiliary had visited the Clarendon fire department, looked over its personnel and apparatus, found it well equipped and an efficient fire-fighting machine.

In closing its communication to the editor, the Ladies' Auxiliary proposed a new slogan: "Take a look, but also help support your fire department."

That is the proper spirit! There are thousands of towns in the United States that could save millions of dollars in fire losses and actually hundreds of lives if the local citizens individually, or through their civic bodies, would demand an adequate fire department and encourage its maintenance.

Never was there such an opportune time to improve fire protection. Under the public works program of the government, financing, with federal funds, of self-liquidating undertakings, is being encouraged. The government loans money toward the establishment of such projects on long time at low interest rates, and actually gives a discount of 30 per cent on the amount borrowed. Reduction of fire losses is self- liquidating in the truest sense of the word in that it prevents loss of business, interruption of trade, unemployment, loss of population and actually reduces taxes, insurance costs and like expenditures.

Burned factories, homes, warehouses, etc., cause misery and want in any community. There is probably no more truly self-liquidating public work that can be done for the benefit of all the people in a community, than the establishment of modern, scientific fire protection with adequate apparatus and water supply.

FIRE PREVENTION AIDS RECOVERY PROGRAM

For the first eight months of 1933 the National Board of Fire Underwriters estimates the national fire loss at $224,904,141, as compared with $310,078,321 for same period in 1932.

With such a wonderful start on reduction of fire losses for the year, Fire Prevention Week, which occurs from October 8 to 14, should give added impetus to the fire prevention movement and encourage the making of a record year for low fire losses. This would be a blessing to the nation in its recovery struggle.

Fire causes the loss of thousands of lives annually. Men lose jobs and wages, and government collects no taxes on burned buildings. It is estimated that 43 per cent of business houses which burn annually, do not resume operations.

Insurance costs are based on fire losses—whether your own property burns or not, you pay insurance because it is part of the cost of operation in all business.

Let every man and woman be their own fire inspector—look at the heating plant, clean up the basement, take trash out of the attic, dispose of oil or paint covered rags, keep hot ashes out of combustible containers, fix wiring connections and check a hundred things they can do to prevent fire. Be careful of matches and smoking.

Farmers should be doubly concerned about fire and use every preventative measure possible, because they have little protection once a fire is started.

Fire Prevention Week draws attention to the importance of fire prevention and activities against the fire hazard should continue throughout the year.

Fire destroys life, property, progress and prosperity.

NOT NECESSARY TO BUY STOCK TO HOLD HIGHWAY POSITIONS

Jefferson City, Oct. 3.—With approval of the State Highway Commision, orders have been issued by T. H. Cutler, chief engineer of the Highway Department, that employees need not purchase stock in any company in order to keep their jobs.

The order was issued after an alleged attempt to use political pressure in the sale of building and loan stock to highway department employes in the St. Joseph division of the office was placed before the commission in an executive session held recently in St. Louis.

Two salesmen for the North American Savings and Loan Association, Kansas City, are alleged to have attempted to use a letter to H. M. Brush, division engineer at St. Joseph, from T. J. Pendergast, head of the Kansas City Democratic organization, to boost their sales. Brush told the commission about the letter in the executive session of the commission several weeks ago.

"Orders that no employee had to purchase stock in any company in order to keep his job were issued by me and approved by the commission the minute we were notified," the chief engineer said.

There is a long standing rule against soliciting among employees at headquarters here and at division offices, Cutler said.

RULES LEGISLATURE MUST REORGANIZE

Jefferson City, Oct. 3.—Adjournment of the fifty-seventh General Assembly on April 25 dissolved organization of the two branches of the Legislature, making it necessary to reorganize at a special session, Attorney-General Roy McKittrick ruled today.

"It is the opinion of this department that when the fifty-seventh General Assembly of 1933 adjourned April 25, 1933, sine die, it was the dissolution of that organization, and that in the event the Governor exercises his power and calls an extra session it will be necessary to re-elect officers who presided over the fifty-seventh General Assembly or to elect officers in their places," Oliver W. Nolen, an assistant Attorney-General, held in an opinion approved by McKittrick.

The opinion was written in reply to a request for a ruling from Mrs. Grace Shay, chief stenographer of the fifty-seventh General Assembly, who asked if the elective officers of the regular session would be called back to act or if new officers would be elected.

Although there has been a move among a group of Legislators opposing the Meredith-Keating leadership in the House to elect new officers, the movement apparently has not gained much headway. W. H. Meredith, Poplar Bluff, speaker during the last regular session, and Edgar J. Keating, Kansas City, majority floor leader, are expected to again lead the lower House.

There has been no move to overthrow the leadership of Michael Kinney, St. Louis, as speaker pro tem of the Senate, and Senator Phil M. Donnelly, Lebanon, as majority floor leader in the upper branch.

SAVING ON PLATES FOR THE NEXT YEAR

Missouri's next issue of automobile license plates will be bought at a saving of $19,000 under the closing year's issue, due to the fact that they will be mnufactured in the State Prison by the state's own factory, according to V. H. Steward, commissioner of motor vehicles in the office of Dwight H. Brown, Secretary of State.

The 57th General Assembly of this year created the new license plate factory which has recently been installed at the penitentiary. As a result, the next issue of plates will cost only eleven cents per set, as against a purchase price of thirteen and 7-10 cents last year. Approximately 625,000 pairs of passenger car plates and 100,000 pairs for trucks have been ordered.

Work on the manufacture of the of the 1934 plates will be started upon the receipt of the envelopes in which they are mailed out, which have been ordered through the State Printing Commission.

The above saving does not take into account the cost of pasteboard boxes in which the tags are packed, however. The plates are packed fifty sets in a box. This cost, though, is comparatively negligable, it is said.

The color scheme of the new plates will be white letters and figures on a black background.

Mrs. Geraldine Young spent the week end at her home in Cape Girardeau.

Owen J. Taul and Clifton Thurman were in Caruthersville a short time Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. F. R. Vaughn spent the week end with her parents in Bernie.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Roberts of Essex were guests of Mr. Robert's sister, Mrs. James D. Kochel, here Friday.

David Lumsden of Sikeston visited his mother here a short time on Sunday.

Mrs. W. M. Moore and Mrs. Vera Kochel were in Matthews a short time on Tuesday arranging to take the fashion revue that was presented here last Friday night in connection with the Community Fair, to Matthews one night next week. The plans now are to present the show at the high school gym at Matthews Friday night, October 13th.

Community Fair a Success

The second annual school and Community Fair was held at Canalou on Friday, Sept. 29th. The exhibits were far superior to those of last year, and were viewed by many more people. A baby clinic was held in the afternoon by Dr. W. N. O'Bannon and Dr. Howard Dunaway, assisted by Mrs. Dunaway, Mrs. Gorden B. Nance and Miss Ellen Caverno. Nineteen babies were examined and blue ribbons went to Clara Mae Harr, aged six months, and to Johnny Lee Bonner, age 22 months. The babies were judged from the standpoint of health, not beauty.

At an early hour people began to arrive to view the various booths that were prepared the afternoon and night before. The exhibits consisted of farm products, fresh vegetables and fruit, cut flowers, home cooking, canned products, art work, novelty assortment, heirlooms and the school display.

The stunts and field events in the afternoon included a husband calling contest, won by Mrs. Mary Blakinship, and the second honor went to Mrs. W. H. Werner. The rolling pin throwing was won by Mrs. Charley Volz and Mrs. Nathanial Hewitt took a close second. In the hog calling contest, Bud Marris took the first place and Isom Cummons won second honors. Women's basketball throw for distance, 1st, Stella Poe, and 2nd Mrs. P. L. McLaurin. Girls basketball throw for distance was won by Virginia McLaurin, and 2nd went to Appalone Taul. The men's tug of war was a tie as neither team could pull the other over the line and finally the rope broke and let all fall. These teams were composed of five men from River Ridge and five men from Canalou. The women's tug of war was won by the Canalou women. There were a number of stunts for the grade children which consisted of potato races, sack races, egg race, tug of war, wheel barrow race, etc. The elephant race, wheel barrow race, three legged race and several others were won by boys and girls from the River Ridge school. We hope that next year there will be representatives from the Caverno school.

The evenings entertainment was a Century of Progress in ladies' dresses with a musical setting. The costumes modelled included mother hubbard, hoop skirts, bustle, hobble skirt, old and new bathing suits, the merrywidow hat, wedding dress and others. This part of the program certainly was well attended as the gymnasium was crowded. All present enjoyed the program very much.

The proceeds of the Fair go to the curtain fund which is steadily mounting. It is hoped that the curtain can be purchased in the near future.

Those who won honors in the exhibits were as follows:

Cakes—1st place was a tie between Mrs. V. E. Haywood and Mrs. Fred Geske; 2nd, Mrs. Wm. Wilkening; 3rd Mrs. X. Caverno.

Incubators Save Babies' Lives

CYBIL is only as large as a milk bottle, but in a few weeks she will be drinking a bottle of milk daily. She is one of the premature babies that are being nursed back to health and strength in infant incubators in one of the exhibits in A Century of Progress Exposition.

Dr. Martin A. Couney, in charge of the incubators, who has cared for 10,000 infants in the last forty years, says 85 per cent of prematurely born babies can be saved.

Until they are strong enough to be returned to their mothers, the babies are kept at a constant temperature in glass-inclosed incubators. The building itself is built of pressed wood and masonite, a wood-fiber insulation board, to protect the interior against the extreme heat of summer.

Washington Comment

The sources of power in Washington to which the people are accustomed to look for guidance and action have not been idle of late, so far as efforts to rehabilitate business and keep things going generally are concerned. It is proposed to loan money to banks and similar institutions at a rate of interest which will enable them to lend it out again, still at a reasonable percent, to concerns which will obligate themselves to use it in a bona fide attempt to build up business and add names to their pay rolls. The re-financing of mortgages on farm property may not have gone forward so rapidly as some had hoped, but this has been due to the difficulty in finding experienced help to carry on the somewhat technical task that is involved. This short-coming in the operation of the re-financing government bonds with its available funds is more marked, and money will be put in circulation accordingly. The foregoing are cited merely as examples of what is being done, and constitute by no means a complete summary of what has been brought to pass in the way of facilitating recovery.

Conditions undeniably have improved. Of this there are many evidences, not the least significant of which is the decrease of business failures. For instance, the number of failures lately reported for a single week amounted to approximately half as many as were reproted for the corresponding week in 1932, and to about that percent of the number that appear on the records for 1931. The business pulse seems to be beating more strongly and with more regularity, and it is safe to assume that there may be merit in the suggestion that all that is required is a little more patience.

Creamery Fresh
Wherever You Live

An enviable achievement in butter making and butter delivery.

It is the one thing you most want in butter—yet the one thing most easily lost. That delicate BLOOM of flavor, that FIRST fragrance of butter fresh from the churns.

Years ago Sugar Creek set out to bring you this new-churned [illegible]ness wherever you live—in any city, town or village in Southeast Missouri. Today, as a result, there has been developed a system of butter making and butter delivery that is without equal in the world.

A special grade of pasteurized cream is used in making this famous butter—cream that has been tested for flavor and for richness. Master butter makers churn it to just the right creamy-smooth texture. And from the churns Sugar Creek Butter is speeded to your dealer under constant refrigeration—CREAMERY FRESH! Ask him today for

Cuba has acquired a new president, and before the crown, silk hat or whatever the insignia of command in the island may be, is well poised on his head, those who do not like him are suggesting that he should step down. Latin-American presidents are called upon to keep stepping most of the time. Speaking of stepping, perhaps what Cuba really needs is a little of the hard-boiled rule commonly attributed to step mothers.

The League of Nations has not travelled so far in some respects as its friends desired, but it seems to be making a fairly good showing in many ways, for instance in the handling of money. Its securities are located in about twenty-five countries and it has less than six investments that are not up to standard, so far as yielding a steady and undiminished return is concerned. Judging from what has happened to investments, both public and private, during the last few years, it might be a good thing for the League to be entrusted with bonds, even if all are not quite ready to entrust it with the handling of bayonets.

A woman matador has appeared in Mexico. After leading the animal a merry chase to the amusement of the spectators, a man entered the ring to dispatch him. What might otherwise be an ungallant remark is rendered less so by the fact that it was a lady who made it. She says that women are prone to start what they cannot finish, and that although they may be able to shoot the bull, killing the bull is a task for the male sex.

An old miner has discovered a cave in the Painted Hills of Nevada, the walls of which are composed of ore that will assay about a thousand dollars to the ton. The N. R. A. is working well. Even nature cannot hoard her gold.

Lucky Dog at Chicago's World's Fair

"These days are certainly 'dog days' when there is company like this!" says the Victor Talking Dog in the RCA-Victor exhibit in the Radio and Communications Building at the Chicago World's Fair—A Century of Progress. Adelaide Raleigh (left) is whistling into the dog's microphone to make him talk to her, while Lucille Bredin (left) and Dorothy Morgan listen.

About the middle of December, a payment will be due on the war debts. Theoretically, if the European debtors do not intend to pay, they should give three months notice. The day has passed, but notice has not been given. So one seriously believes that this means that payment will be made on the date when payment is in order.

Things undoubtedly will jog along on the old no-pay basis. We need the money, but we shall not get it. The only compensation which we have is that the war debts do not trouble us so much as formerly. It is worth something to have one thing less to worry about. Philosophy and not cash will afford relief when the fifteenth of December rolls around.

Your Municipal Plant Is a Home Industry

Your Municipal Light Plant is a home owned industry. When you spend your "ELECTRIC DOLLAR" with a corporation foreign to Sikeston your money leaves Sikeston "NEVER TO RETURN."

When you pay that "ELECTRIC DOLLAR" to your Municipal Light Plant it REMAINS IN SIKESTON and makes possible many public improvements.

Your light plant is owned BY THE PEOPLE and is FOR THE PEOPLE. As a public spirited citizen you should buy your electricity from Sikeston's power plant. Help us lower rates by unanimous patronage of your HOME light plant

LAIR STORE NEWS

"That Interesting Store"

HOUSE FURNISHINGS

Our 36 Year in S. E. Mo.

Many are inquiring about oil heaters for one, two and up to four rooms. We have both the Florence and Perfection lines and are assured by the makers that room heaters for coal oil or distillate are no longer experimental. The absence of all ashes, cinders, dust, etc., is a great advantage in using oil fuel. Four models are being shown and demonstrated. Either may be purchased on weekly or monthly payments.

Many compliments have been received on our furniture exhibit at Benton on Neighbor Day. Sam Rajotte is entirely responsible for the pretty setting, having made all selections and arrangements without other help than the porter.

Not a day passes now without several deliveries of heating stoves, most of them made by Moore. The few dollars extra first cost of a Moore's Heater may be saved many times over to the owner in the saving of coal. They are guaranteed to save at least 25% fuel in comparison to old fashioned heaters.

Buyers of living room suites will serve themselves profitable by looking over forty or fifty staple values now being shown. Tapestry in rust and green, Jacquards in popular shades and mohairs in many colors constitute the coverings.

"FORWARD" is the word, toward better and happier standards of living, in the "New Deal" program. As a modest distributor of merchandise that is within reach of the great masses of people we are trying our very best to conduct a store that will not only make it's owners a few dollars but will be counted as a credit to Sikeston. We solicit trade from all classes but no "high pressure" methods are used in selling.

The new line of Majestic radios is, without question, the outstanding radio showing of the season. Particular reference is made to several small modernistic styles running in price from $23.50 to 9.50. Several new console models are also in the assortment, every one a beauty.

ALL COTTON CHECKS MAILED BY OCT. 15

C. L. Malone, president of the Sikeston Chamber of Commerce, is in receipt of a telegram from Washington, in answer to an inquiry as to when cotton checks would be mailed, in which the information was given that 500,000 checks had been mailed, 40,000 per day were going out and all would be in the mail by October 15.

This will be good news to all as much disappointment has been manifested by farmers who destroyed cotton acreage.

WELTER NEW LEGION POST COMMANDER

At their regular meeting Wednesday night in the Armory, the American Legion accepted the report of the nominating committee and elected new officers. Ben Welter was elected Post Commander; Dr. C. W. Limbaugh, first vice-commander; Robley Lennox, second vice commander; C. A. Patrick, third vice commander; Oscean Carroll, adjutant; Sam Wilcox, historian; Father Woods, chaplain, and Harry Camden, sergeant-at-arms.

The new officers will be installed at a joint meeting of the Legion and the Auxiliary on October 20. The meeting dates were changed from the first and third Wednesdays in each month to the first and third Fridays.

Thursday at noon a car whisked past the editor's home but stopped half a block beyond and a very splendid looking young woman got out of the car, came back and asked if we were Mary Watkins father. We plead guilty and learned she was from DeSoto, Mo., and knew our daughter now living in that city. We never did get her name, but she said she knew us because we were wearing a grey derby hat and she heard it was the only one in this section of the United States. See what a hat will do for you.

DO YOUR PART NOW

Production, continued production, is necessary if our manufacturing plants are to keep men employed. Buying power must be built. Buying power must be used. Only through consumption which demands increased production can payrolls be built up. No plant can continue to operate beyond consumer demand.

A dollar spent now for building does two things. It helps the construction industry put back to work thousands of skilled and unskilled workers; it buys needed materials now cheaper than they can be bought later. Even though the cost is now higher than it was a few months ago this merely proves that costs are increasing. To save money and create jobs, act NOW.

Statistics show a shortage of over 1,000,000 houses. This figure is based on a definite survey in 257 cities. Millions of homes already built are sorely in need of modernizing—a concrete driveway, a basement, a paint job, a new roof, refurbishing.

A dollar will buy more for you today, do more for your country, than later. Ask yourself, "How can I best do my part?"

Our postmaster was dragged into another argument at the postoffice this morning. He believes it is asking too much for him to have to furnish all the overhead to the loafers, including brains.—Commprcial Appeal.

The Calf Ribs Widow has adopted a sliding scale of courting codes and posted them in her parlor. It all depends on how much she likes the fellow as to what his courting hours will be.—Commercial Appeal.

GAME AND FISH NEWS

Logan Willis, state game warden for District 21 comprising Miller, Osage, Cole and Maries counties, believes he has estbalished a state record in killing predatory hawks. Since May 1st Mr. Willis has killed 157 hawks. John Workman of Brown Shanty is also a hawk and owl hunter deserving commendation. Mr. Workman has a hawk whistle that he says brings them to him without fail. This week he killed one with a wing spread of 42 inches that he had called to a dead tree limb.

Howard Steen who lives a few miles up Current River from Doniphan, Mo., fishing with a trot line and doing some fly fishing on the side, in one day caught a large bass weighing from one-half pound to two pounds, and one jack salmon weighing ten pounds. Steen returned the smaller bass to the water as caught and the ten pounder which he kept, made a nice string. The jack was caught on a trout line.

M. C. Snively, a Chicago public accountant, writes the Game and Fish Department, expressing his appreciation of efficient and courteous treatment afforded him and his wife while on a recent visit to Alley Spring State Park, near Eminence in Shannon County. "We have never had the pleasure of receiving more consideration or attention from a public servant than that received from Mt. Lawson, the caretaker," he writes. The Snivelys plan to return to Missouri for a float trip on Current River.

Senator Lon Haymes with two friends from Springfield, fishing on White River above Lake Taneycomo last week, caught 24 bass as well as several perch and crappie. The party made a 16-mile float trip from Kimberling Ferry to Tablerock.

Hunters who go afield this fall are admonished to kill all the crows possible. Of all the predators, the crow is classed with the the cat, one of the worst. A dead crow may mean life for a hundred valuable birds.

"Since the hunting season is near at hand," The Ellington Press advises, "and there are reports of an abundance of deer, turkey and quail in the country, every hunter should lose no time in taking out his state hunting license."

Irby C. Henry, state representative from Shannon County, a caller at the Game & Fish Department this week, reports a large number of deer in the southeastern section of his county, especially west of Deer Run State Park. Deer are also to be found in large numbers, he says, in the northeast part of Oregon county in what is known as the "Irish Wilderness." An abundance of quail is also reported, especially in the wooded sections, Mr. Henry says. "Last week I observed several large covies, one of some thirty young birds," he stated.

Shoal Creek in McDonald county has been stocked with some 10,000 game fish, including bass, perch, bluegill and rock bass. The fish were furnished by the U. S. Hatchery at Neosho. The fry ran between three and eight inches in length and were distributed under the direction of Firman Burt, President of the Sportsman's Protective League.

Though more or less domesticated cats are classed with deer, foxes, rabbits and hares, as wild animals, an old English law reveals. Cats belong to no one unless kept in close confinement.

The City of Memphis, Mo., has received 1500 bluegill, bass and crappie fish for restocking the Municipal Lake. The fish were shipped from the Forest Park Hatchery at St. Louis.

To keep them working at full strength the Civilian Conservation Corps will be continued through next winter and spring by order of President Roosevelt. More than 310,000 men, including 240,000 youths between 18 and 25 years old, 30,000 foresters, 26,000 World War veterans and 14,400 Indians, thus are assured of work in forestry camps and on conservation projects for an additional 6 months beyond the six-month term for which they were recruited.

XKUSE IT PLEZ

All students in the local schools bearing excuses from their parents were excused today by members of the school faculty to attend the annual Neighbor Day celebration at Benton. Following is a reproduction of a carefully (???) written excuse handed 'Peg' Mahew by a studious young lady:

"Plez xkuse Doroty frum skul todaa as she wonts to go to Neybor day piknik at Benton.

Lowingly

We suggest that the "Guarddeen" attend "skul" during 'Doroty's" absence.
